Concrete is the best building material

A BROAD statement—Yet literally true. The aim of man from the beginning has been to make his building materials as nearly like natural stone as possible. The great labor required to quarry stone led him to seek various manufactured substitutes. The only reason he ever used wood was that it was easiest to get and most convenient to use. Wood is no longer easy to get. Like most building material, its cost is increasing at an alarming rate. The cost of concrete is decreasing. So, from the standpoint of either service or economy, Concrete is the best building material. Canada's farmers are using more concrete, in proportion to their numbers, than the farmers of any other country. Why? Because they are being supplied with German railways provide excellent facilities for transporting persons who cannot walk. An invalid can hire a first class car fitted with every convenience for the sick. The car contains a compartment that opens with a double door on the level of the station platform, so that a stretcher can easily be carried in or out. Besides this compartment, which is large enough to accommodate the invalid and his attendants, the car contains a kitchen and a compartment for members of the family and friends. For invalids who travel second and third class, there are comfortable ordinary cars with compartments that open with double doors on the station platform.

CHILDHOOD COLIC COMPLETELY CURED

No other medicine will so quickly cure colic as will Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and drive out every trace of this trouble. Concerning them Mrs. Wm. A. Smith, Rockhampton, Sask., writes: "I like Baby's Own Tablets and always keep them in the house. Whenever my baby has colic I give her a couple of Tablets and she is soon well again. I know of no other medicine for little ones to equal them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

On the 12th, the University of Bristol. Fruit growers are probably familiar with the discoloration and blackening of pear blossom and foliage which is generally to be noticed every spring. This damage is regarded as the work of frost or cold wind. It is not. The trouble has been traced at Long Ashton to be due to bacillus, and a fortunate discovery it is, because now that the origin of this injury is known, it will not be long before Professor Barker and his staff will be ready with an antidote. The organism responsible for the disease has been isolated in the laboratories of the institute, and experiments with pure cultures of the bacteria have proved that the organism is the real source of the trouble. The disease is not limited to pears only. The bacteria have also been found in the institute plantations attacking apples and plums, and producing very similar damage. The result of the attack is that the fruits wither and die off, so that a considerable percentage of the crop is lost. Specimens of similarly attacked pear blossoms have already been obtained from different parts of the country, and in these cases also the organism has been found to be present. There is therefore no doubt that it is widely spread in the fruit-growing districts, and it must cause very considerable loss to fruit growers. The life history and characters of the bacillus are being examined, and in due course a full report of the disease will be published. During the course of the year experiments will be carried on to endeavor to find a method of dealing with the pest.

The particulars referred to in the above report will likely be of considerable interest not only to Canadian fruit growers but also to those who are carrying on experimental work at various points throughout Canada. E. D. ARNAUD, Bristol Eng.

Performance of Animal at Garnet Not Equalled in Dominion

Tom Fox, a trapper in Bartibogue, N. B., while making the rounds to his traps last week discovered a bear caught in one of them. The bear seeing him made a spring and broke the trap, getting clear, and rushed on him. Mr. Fox, taken by surprise, was not altogether prepared to defend himself, and before he could kill the bear it had given him a few scratches about the head and face. The bear was said to be the largest ever seen in that part of the country.

In the Dominion cabinet out of eighteen men, all but one were born in rural sections or in small towns. Of the present provincial premiers in Canada not one was city-born. Out of thirteen native-born general managers of our leading banks only seven were born in cities.

Indigestion is one of the most distressing maladies afflictive of our kind. The stomach is intended to perform the work nature has assigned it to do, and the result is a feeling of pain after eating, nausea, heartburn, painful fluttering of the heart, sick headache, and often a loss of appetite, even though the sufferer is half starved. People with poor digestion are prone to try all sorts of experiments to aid the process of digestion, and there is only one way in which the trouble can be actually cured, and that is through treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cures even the most obstinate cases of indigestion. They make the rich, red blood that strengthens the stomach and its nerves, thus enabling it to do its work. The process is simple, but the result means a good appetite, increased health and pleasure in life. Mr. R. Lusier, of Sorel, Que., offers ample proof of this. He says: "For several years I was a sufferer from indigestion, and the torture I suffered after meals was often almost unendurable. Often I would go without a meal rather than under go the suffering that followed. Accompanying the trouble I had headaches, dizziness, and often a feeling of nausea. All the time I was taking one medicine after another in the hope of getting relief, but without avail. Finally I read of the case of a similar sufferer who had cured through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I decided to try them. I took the Pills steadily for about six weeks with result that I was fully cured and could eat anything I cared for. I may add that I have not since had any return of the trouble."

If you are suffering from indigestion do not waste time experimenting but begin to cure yourself today with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which go to the root of the trouble through the blood. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The smoke issued from a stove that had been lighted and damped before retiring. Mr. Baker and his family are giving unlimited credit to their canine rescuer.
