Would you kindly tell me what to do for a thoroughpin on a horse.

P. E. I. Ans.-Blistering is the usual treatment for a thoroughpin. Apply, once daily the following mixture: Three drams each of biniodide of merc ry and potasium iodide, and six ounces of water Clip off the hair and apply as above After four or five applications, cease for a week or ten days till the soreness passes away, then repeat. This is an absorbent blister, and will not make the Ans.-You describe the symptoms of septic navel infection, called navel ill, or joint ill. This occurs in young colts few days after birth; it manifests itself in the form of seques, or swellen joints or both. It is believed to arise from the entrance of certain germs into the navel cord, these germs being present in the bedding. Prevention is the best treatment, being accomplished by keeping clean stables at foaling time. The disease is usually fatal. A veterinarian tells us that he injects a solution of 1 part formalin to 5 parts water into the cord, and finds it a reliable means of checking the trouble when it has not advanced too far. The water is really a serous fluid, secreted by the inflamed parts of the umbilical cord.
