I Built this Shoe for Farm Wear!

I know the requirements of a farm work shoe as well as any man living, because I was brought up on the farm and worked from early morning till late at night just like every other farmer has to do. For that reason I know just what I am saying when I tell you that this is the BEST FARM SHOE ON EARTH. It is built especially to meet the requirements of farm life—on the fields—around the barn or in the barn acids. No matter how hard you may be on your shoes, or to what test you may put this shoe, I personally guarantee that it will stand up and give you all the wear you could possibly expect.

The uppers are made of heavy tan or black Oil Grain leather of finest quality; the heavy half-double soles are of solid leather, as are also the 3-lifts of heels. The shoe has a solid and substantial leather back-strap, which gives great strength to the whole shoe. The vamp runs right through to the sole with the heavy toe-cap covering, which means double the ordinary shoe strength at the toes. It is strongly made and nicely finished on a wide and roomy last that will give greatest comfort.

Humor

"What was the principal result of the flood?" asked the Sunday-school teacher. Edward pondered the question gravely. "I guess," he said slowly, "the principal result was mud."

"Aren't you the boy who was here a week ago looking for a position?" asked the foreman.

"Yes, sir," the boy admitted. "I thought so. And didn't I tell you then that I wanted an older boy?"

"Yes, sir; that's why I'm here now."

After the clock struck eleven the peevish father strode to the top of the stairs and called down:

"Mabel, doesn't that young man know how to say 'good night'?"

"Does he?" echoed Mabel from the darkened hall below. "Well; I should say he does."

The formidable trustees of the little rural school were paying their dreaded annual visit and the primary class was being examined in nature study.

"Now, children," said the nervous young teacher, holding up an apple blossom, "what comes after this flower?"

"A little green apple," shouted the class in chorus.

The teacher felt that the worst was over. "Good!" she said. "And now Johnny, can you tell us what comes after the little green apple?"

"Yes'm!" roared Johnny; "stomach ache!"

Seth Woodbury was a tight-fisted old farmer. When his brother William died it was said that Seth had even grudged the money for proper medical care. Seth hitched up and drove to town to have a notice of his brother's death inserted in the local paper.

"There ain't no charges, be there?" he asked anxiously.

"Oh, yes, indeed," answered the editor; "our rate is a dollar an inch."

"Cracky!" muttered the old man; "an' Bill six foot two!"

Visiting his home town after many years' absence, a gentleman met Sam, the village fool.

"Hello, Sam," he said. "Glad to see you. What are you doing now? Still pumping the church organ?"

"Yessir, I'm still pumping the organ. An' say, Charlie, I'm gettin' to be a pretty fine pumper. The other day they had a big organist over from New Haven, and I pumped a piece he couldn't play."

Hoping to be the first to relate some unwelcome news, the youth rushed in to the house and said:

"Father, I had a fight with Perry Raymond to-day."

"I know you did," said the father soberly; "Mr. Raymond came to see me about it."

"Well," said the son, "I hope you came out as well as I did."

"You are an honest boy," beamed the old lady as she opened the roll of five one-dollar bills, "but the money I lost was a five-dollar bill. Didn't you see that in the advertisement?"

"Yessum," explained the boy. "It was a five-dollar bill I found, but I had it changed so you could pay me the reward."

"The trouble with you is the same as with Mr. Brown," said the doctor. "He worried and got nervous dyspepsia. He was worrying himself to death about his grocer's bill. Now he is cured."

"But how did you cure him?" asked the patient.

"I told him to stop worrying and he has," replied the doctor.

"I know," was the sad answer; "I know he has. But I am his grocer."

"Pa," said little Willie Green, "what is a sense of humor?"

"A sense of humor, my son," responded Pa Green, "is that which makes you laugh when a thing happens to someone else, that would make you mad if it happened to you."
