

IMPERIAL SERVICE

If you are in doubt about the proper lubricant, ask the Imperial Oil man. He will give you courteous attention and sound advice on your lubrication problems. That is part of Imperial Service.

FARM MACHINERY AN ASSET ONLY WHEN IN USE

YOU get no return from your investment when your farm machinery stands idle. Delays caused by broken parts or worn out bearings are costly. Many times these delays can be traced to improper lubrication. Correct lubrication is an important factor in keeping your machines in shape for full service.

You take no chances when depending on us for lubrication advice. We know and will recommend to you the correct Imperial Oil for every lubrication requirement. We can advise you and can supply the correct lubricant at our many stations all over Canada. There is one near you. Every Imperial lubricating oil is sold in steel barrels and half-barrels—convenient and economical. There's no waste. You use every drop you pay for. You are sure it is uniform and clean.

Fat Cattle

This was not a large class but some prime animals were exhibited. Five out of the seven steers won prizes in the boys' feeding competition here last spring. Steers or heifers, one-year and under two:—1, J. S. Donaldson, Brandon, with a Short-horn Angus cross; 2, Moffat, Carroll; 3, Manitoba Agricultural College; 4, J. S. Stronach, Brandon. The College had also a couple of entries in the class two years and under three, and they also won the class for three steers under three years of age.

HOLSTEINS

W. H. Gibson, Experimental Station, Indian Head, placed the awards in this breed of dairy cattle. The herds of Geo. Bevington, Winterburn, Alta., again came up against that of Clark & Sims, Argyle Station, Man., with the addition of a couple of entries from the Glenlea Stock Farm, Winnipeg.

The Bevington herd won first and third in aged bulls; first in two-year-olds; first and third in yearlings; first, second and third in senior calves, and second and third in junior calves. The Clark & Sims herd got second in aged bulls, fifth in yearlings, and first in junior calves. The Glenlea Farm were second and fourth in yearling bulls. In the aged cow class, Clark & Sims came well to the top being first with "Ruby Nig." and third with "Lady Princess Fayne." In three-year-old cows, they were also first, with "Island Belle Bookers," and third with "Princess Ida Bookers." In two-year-olds, their entry "Lady Pontiac Bookers," went to the top. They also got third in junior yearlings; third and fourth in senior calves, and second and third in junior calves. Bevington was second and fourth in aged cows; second and fourth in three-year-olds; second and third in two-year-olds; first in senior yearlings; first and second in junior yearlings; first and second in senior calves, and first, fourth and fifth in junior calves. Bevington won the senior championships in bulls with "Colony Major Pouch Tenney," and the junior with the yearling "North View Sir Pieterje." Clark & Sims won the senior and grand championships in females with the three-year-old "Island Belle Bookers," and the reserve senior with their aged cow, "Ruby Nig." Bevington got the junior championship with the junior heifer "Jacoba Tensen II," and the reserve with the senior calf "Countess Marian Pieterje." Groups—senior herd, 1, 3 and 5, Bevington; 2 and 4, Clark & Sims; junior herd, 1 and 2, Bevington; 3 and 4, Clark & Sims; three, the set of one bull, 1 and 4, Clark & Sims; 2 and 3, Bevington; three females under two years, bred by exhibitor, 1 and 2, Bevington; 3, Clark & Sims; two calves under one year, 1, 2 and 4, Bevington; 3, Clark & Sims.

AYRSHIRES

The Alberta herd of Howland Neils, Dr. Winton, had matters practically all its own way in the Ayrshire classes. Neils's only competitor was A. D. McDonald & Sons, Napinka, Man. who had forward a couple of entries. G. H. Hutton, Lacombe, made the awards.

SHEEP

There was a fine show of sheep at Brandon, and there was good competition in the majority of the breeds. In Leicesters, G. E. V. Smith, Crystal City; Thos. Zachray, Austin; and C. Oakes, Kelsey, Sask., divided the money between them as follows: Ram, two sheers and over, 1, Smith; 2 and 3, Oakes; 4, Zachray; 5, Oakes. Aged ewe, 1, 2 and 3, Oakes; 4, Zachray; 5, Smith. Ewe Lamb, 1 and 2, Smith; 3, 4 and 5, Zachray. Pen, 1, Smith; 2 and 4, Oakes; 3, Zachray. Champion ram, Smith.
