Scrap for Odd Moments.

Garfield Tea cures sick-headache.
"What's the matter with Cholly?"
"He's sick. Somebody gave him a real tobacco cigar."
Minard's Liniment cures Burns, &c.
No charge to florists for this advice: If you would have your plants start early put them in spring beds.
Garfield Tea is sold by all druggists.
Roosters are a good deal like men. A rooster never gives notice of finding a worm until after he has swallowed it.
Minard's Liniment relieves Neuralgia.
Martin: "How well Miss Greenough keeps her age!" Mrs Grider: "Why, of course; nothing would induce her to give it away."
Minard's Liniment cures Dandruff.
She--And would you still wish to marry me if I had an artificial optic? He--Yes, darling. With all that false eye'd love thee still.

For A Girl.

If I were a boy with heart of gold,
I'm sure I wouldn't be bought and sold;
By the demon of drink or grin and odd.
If I were a boy!
Tobacco into the gutter I'd throw--
It's the only place where it ought to go!
At least I am sure that I would think so.
If I were a boy!
For, if I'd once been made sick by the thing,
With its noxious taste and its pungent sting,
To the winds forever I would fling
If I were a boy!
I would try to grow strong, brave and true,
With an arm of oak my future to hue,
At least I think this is what I would do,
If I were a boy!

For A Boy.

If I were a girl I wouldn't take
A pill of wine for a pound of cake;
I'd leave that out for temperance' sake
If I were a girl!
If I were a girl I'd be one that tries
To do without brandy in mince pies;
Such cooked temptations would I despise;
If I were a girl!
If I were a girl, and, as some folks say,
Strong men have fallen through weak wine,
I'd throw all the wine in the house away,
If I were a boy!

Handsome Features.

Sometimes unsightly blotches, pimples or yellow opaque skin, destroys the attractiveness of handsome features. In such cases Scott's Emulsion will build up the system and impart freshness and beauty.
He: "Is that your school friend, why she isn't so very ugly." She: "Ugly! Who said she was?" He: "You said all the girls loved her."
"Are you going to have a picnic this year?" inquired a youngster of his Sunday-school teacher. "Why what do you want of a picnic?" "Nothing much, but I can get six new scholars in a hurry, if you are going to have one!"
Pink Pills for Pale People are the only scientific medicine ever discovered for the cure of diseases depending upon a depraved and watery state of the blood. As they supply in a condensed form, the substance actually needed to enrich the blood and restore the nerves, they remove the cause and so cure the disease. All dealers or, by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50. Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CUILED FROM THE OLD YEAR.

By McMillan, Chatham, Ont.; Gaitre Mrs V. W. Johnson, Walsh, Ont.; Inflammation.
James H. Bailey, Parkdale, Ont., Neuralgia.
C. L. Lague, Sydney, C. B., La Grippe.
In every case unquestioned authenticated. They attest to the merits of MINARD'S LINIMENT.
There is an old lady who makes frantic efforts to keep abreast of the times. Circumstances, however, in her social sphere and with limited opportunities of development, this is difficult, and she is compelled sometimes to resort to her imagination. Vain the efforts to tell her anything she does not already know, or starts her with information. A few evenings ago she went to a sociable and as she entered the room one of the young ladies said: "Good evening, auntie; I am very glad you came. We are going to have tableaux this evening." "Yes, I know, I know," replied the old lady; "I smell 'em when I first came in!"

Not a Relative.

He had heard her name when he was presented, but that made small difference to him and he was going into a room as fresh as a sea breeze in a storm.
"Ah," he said, "did I understand you to say that Mr Greenleigh was a relative of yours?"
"Oh, no," she replied, "not a relative; merely a connection by marriage."
"Well of course?" he went on "I wasn't going to say anything about the old dump if he was a relative, but as he's only a connection by marriage I'm sure you will excuse my poor opinion of him. By the way, what is the connection?"
"Merely by marriage," she answered smoothly.
"Yes, so I understand; but how near is it?"
"Not so very near. He married my uncle's only niece."
He started to say something more, but he stopped and began to look bothered about something, then his face grew hot and he went into the cool night air all alone.

"Guaranteed."

"I have used St. Lawrence Cough Balsam in my family for some time and always with the most satisfactory results. Some months ago my daughter came home from Boston with a very hard and distressing cough, from which she could get no relief until she tried St. Lawrence Cough Balsam. Before finishing one bottle she was completely cured. John G. Clark, merchant, Berwick. Sold by Geo. V. Rand, Druggist.

USE SKODA'S DISCOVERY, the Great Blood, and Nerve Remedy.

The city of Chicago abounds with misery and poverty. No wonder. One million dollars are spent every year in intoxicating drinks there, three fourths of which comes from the poor. Families in the throes of an awful famine and pestilence. Who can be surprised? She has a drink full of one million dollars every day.

Sunset.

After a day of tempest,
A battle of wind and rain,
Just when the gloom was thickest,
The sun shone forth again;
Lit with a blaze of glory
The track of the soothing waves;
Fell like an angel's blessing
On the desolate churchyard graves.
Gave heart of hope to the fisher
Wearily faring home;
Brightened the brow of the good wife
Watching till he should come.
And the words of the Holy Scripture
Were borne to my soul again
As I thought of the wonderful gladness
Of sunshine after rain.
And thought that ever the Master,
As once in Galilee,
Is ready to calm the tumult
Of storm on land or sea.
And yet when the gloom is thickest,
And the day is almost done,
He sends us cheer and courage
In the gleam of the setting sun.

Recreation.

An eminent English writer, commenting upon the desirability of recreation, says:
"There are people in the world who would, if they had the power, hang the heavens about with grape; throw a shroud over the beautiful and life-giving bosom of the planet; pick the bright stars from the sky; veil the sun with clouds; pluck the silver moon from her place in the firmament; shut up our gardens and hells, and all the flowers with which they are bedecked; and doom the world to an atmosphere of gloom and cheerlessness. There is no reason or morality in this, and there is still less religion."
A benevolent Creator has endowed man with an eminent capacity for enjoyment--has set him in a fair and lovely world, surrounded him with things good and beautiful, and given him the disposition to love, to sympathize, to help, to produce, to enjoy; and thus to become an honorable and a happy being, bringing God's work to perfection, and enjoying the divine creation in the midst of which he lives.
"Make a man happy, and his actions will be happy too; doom him to dismal thoughts and miserable circumstances, and you will make him gloomy, discontented, morose and probably vicious. Hence coarseness and crime are almost invariably found among those who have never been accustomed to be cheerful, whose hearts have been shut against the purifying influences of a happy communion with nature, or an enlightened and cheerful intercourse with man."

Annapolis Valley Orchard Co.

We are in receipt of the prospectus of the Annapolis Valley Orchard Company, the head office of which is in Berwick. The company has a capital of $100,000, in shares of $50 each. It is proposed by the company to purchase good orchard land in the most favorable localities within reasonable distance of Berwick, to the extent that the sale of stock will permit; to cultivate and improve the same and plant with apple-plum and other fruit trees. It is also proposed to develop any other branches such as evaporating, canning, brining etc., that shall seem to be necessary or advisable in the raising and marketing of fruit. The Board of Directors includes some of the most thoroughly experienced and successful orchardists in this province, among them being--Messrs T. H. Parker, S. C. Parker, Thos. H. Morse and Henry Shaw. The enterprise, on the whole, is one which seems to promise very favorably, and offers a good field for investment to those who desire to patronize a home concern, and at the same time secure a profit for themselves.
