

The Port Williams Acadian

PORT WILLIAMS AND VICINITY

Mr. Donald Ellis spent a few days last week in Halifax with his former classmates, Outbent and Blanchard Thomson, of Dalhousie. He spent the week end with friends in Truro.

Mr. Gordon Gates has gone to U. S. for hospital treatment.

Mr. Roy Besanson, who went to the Canadian West with the harvesters' excursion, returned home on Saturday.

Messrs. Abram MacDow and Ira Gates left on Wednesday for U. S., where they will spend the winter.

Mrs. Carl Starr has returned from a visit with friends in Parrsboro.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dodge are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Justin Gates motored to Halifax last Saturday.

Mrs. Belle Harris has had as her recent guest Mrs. Annie Parker, of Denver, Col.

Miss Vera Porter, who has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Eldridge, returned to her home in Yarmouth on Wednesday.

Rev. O. N. Chipman is in St. John attending the executive meeting of the Canadian Baptist Foreign Missionary Board of which he is secretary.

The "Get Together" Club of Church Street met with Mrs. D. Sutton on Thursday.

Mr. Lloyd Jess has formed an organization of Junior Tuxis boys called the Trail Rangers.

Mr. Donald Chase had the misfortune last week to break his arm while cranking a car.

Capt. J. E. Faulkner, of the "Canadian Mariner", who has been spending a few days with his family, returned to his ship on Friday.

News of the death of the Rev. T. C. Mellor in Toronto on Sunday was received here with regret by many friends, as well as his old parishioners who remember him when rector of St. John's church, where he served many years before going to the Episcopal church at Kentville, and later to Annapolis Royal.

The Port Williams Women's Institute will hold their regular monthly meeting in their rooms, Citizens' Hall, on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 10th, at 2.30 o'clock. A Christmas program is being arranged. Response to roll call, Christmas quotations or suggestions. Members are asked to bring a toy for the Christmas tree. These toys will be distributed among children who have no Christmas cheer.

GREENWICH

Mrs. Dennie, wife of a ministerial student at Acadia College, Wolfville, is now a patient at the home of Nurse Andrew, a little son, their first child, arriving Tuesday, Nov. 24th. Mother and child are doing well.

Mr. T. J. Borden motored to Berwick last Wednesday, being a guest of relatives, returning home that evening.

Mr. James Turple, who has a position at Sunnyside and is a member of the choir here, went to his home at Sheet Harbor one day last week. We understand he plans to return after Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shaffner, recently of Alberta, have taken rooms for the winter in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Fenwick. Mr. Shaffner is working here at the evaporator.

Miss Muriel Forsythe, who is with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Forsythe, attended a party over at White Rock last Wednesday evening.

Miss Betty Morgan is a guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John Fenwick.

Mr. John Harvey, of the United States, is visiting here at the home of his mother, Mrs. Emma Harvey, and sister, Mrs. Lee Bishop. Owing to his health he was ordered a change by his physician.

The pie social held here last Thursday evening was a decided success and well enjoyed. About thirty pies sold well, our genial and humorous friend, Mr. Enoch Bishop, of Wolfville, a former resident here, being the popular auctioneer. The ice-cream deliciously home made, also the fine home-made candy and pop-corn balls booth and table were well patronized. The fish-pond was enjoyed, especially by the children present. Hot cups of nicely made tea were served to those eating pies. The proceeds, which are to benefit the church here, amounted to $88.00. Later $4.00 in cash was donated, making the fine total of $92.00.

The Nominating Committee of the Greenwich Community League met at the home of the convener, Mrs. B. L. Bishop, on Friday evening. The G. C. L. reopened Friday evening this week.

A few from here went to the College Students' play held at Wolfville on Friday evening. It was enjoyed.

Mr. Arthur Dodge of Sunnyside, was busy with his fine threshing machine two days last week at Mr. Howard Forsythe's.

Mr. Harry Morse of Kentville, a former Greenwich boy of many years, has the best wishes of friends in this place for success in his recent appointment of Town Clerk, Treasurer and Licensed Vendor for the town of Kentville at a salary of $1500 per year.

Miss Lillian Bishop was a guest at "Afternoon Tea" on Monday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. J. Elliott Smith, Wolfville.

Plumbing and Heating installed
Work Guaranteed
M. K. McKINNON
Port Williams

Raw Furs Wanted
$1.25 average for good
Muskrat skins.
Highest prices for all kinds of Furs.
Chas. G. Whidden
Exporters of Raw Furs,
ANTIGONISH, N. S.

King Cole
ORANGE PEKOE
"EXTRA" IN CHOICE TEA

A NEW MODEL

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN

Sir.—The following statement which appeared in a recent issue of the Montreal Witness, furnishes food for serious reflection:

"Canada had prohibition operating in eight provinces in 1919, and nine-tenths of the ninth province (Quebec) was dry by local option. Today, after six short years, the trade flourishes in six of the nine. Temperance is being defeated at the rate of a province a year."

This means that we are fighting a losing battle, and it looks as if it would not be long before the enemy would occupy the whole field.

In looking for the reason for this retrogression it is clear that the failure lies in the lack of stamina in the temperance ranks. It is a question of quality rather than quantity. There are a sufficient number of electors in the country to gain the victory, as has been proved by the various plebiscites, but the majority lack the conviction of a William Wilberforce, or a Wendell Phillips.

A striking analogy is presented by conditions in the early stages of the English Civil War of 1642. The historian tells us that until Cromwell recruited his New Model, the raw, untrained soldiers of the Parliamentary army were no match for Rupert's disciplined troops. Observing this defect, Cromwell proceeded to develop a New Model, otherwise called Ironsides, and, as a result, King Charles lost his crown and his head.

This is illustrative of what is needed in our temperance army. Prohibition and Moral Reform are the most important questions in Canadian politics, and they should be made paramount in all elections, Municipal, Provincial, and Federal. To say that they are not issues in any contest is to confess ignorance of what constitutes the country's greatness, and of the means by which that greatness is secured.

The natural recruiting ground for this New Model is the church. By purpose and profession she is designed for this function. Jesus Christ, her Head, came to destroy the works of the devil, and this he purposes to do, directly or indirectly, through his church. Not that the church should organize and direct the forces, but that she should be constantly developing candidates for membership in the New Model, so that when the call comes, she should be able to point to a number of her members qualified to serve.

But here disappointment awaits the recruiting officer. If there were in almost any constituency in Canada a body of two hundred electors from all parties, who were schooled in the principles of Prohibition and Moral Reform; who would be forward in the selection of candidates; and who could not be bribed by a gift, by the promise of emolument, or by the crack of the party whip; it would not be long before these questions would receive the attention, in the country, and in parliament, that their importance demands. Today, in the Federal parliament one independent member has more influence than a score of partisans.

But just here emerges the crucial test. Church members will agree with the Prohibition theory; they will work with others in promoting its interests; they will pass resolutions, and will pray for its progress; but when it comes to sending true and tried representatives to Parliament, they are not willing to make the necessary sacrifice. Hence, one of the most howling farces under the sun is the spectacle of good men and women cancelling one another's influence at the polls. The farcical nature of this performance is finely illustrated by a bit of rhyme, which I have in my scrap-book, and which has done duty on many a platform. May I quote it for the benefit of your gentle readers? It is replete with the philosophy of the situation. The boys should memorize it, so that on election day they may sit on the fence and repeat it as Deacon A and Boozer B go arm in arm to the polls, or as the member of the W. C. T. U. hobnobs in the booth with Boozer B's wife. Here it is:

"Late in November, when cool was the weather,
Two ballots were cast in the box together.
They nestled up close, like brother to brother,
You could not tell one of those votes
from the other;
But they were both rum votes,
Both sanctioned the license plan;

But one was cast by a jolly old brewer
And one by a Sunday School man.
That Sunday School man had always been noted
For fighting saloons, except when he voted—
For temperance, except when he voted—
He piled up his prayers in holy perfection,
But knocked them all down on the day
of election,
For they were both rum votes, etc.
That Sunday School man, no man could
be truer;
He spent all the summer denouncing the
brewer;
But his ardor cooled off with the change
in the weather,
And late in the autumn they voted together;
But they were both rum votes, etc."

F. H. BEALS.
Wolfville, Nov. 28th, 1925.

CAPT. ROBERT NEWCOMBE

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

recruiting officer. If there were in almost any constituency in Canada a body of two hundred electors from all parties, who were schooled in the principles of Prohibition and Moral Reform; who would be forward in the selection of candidates; and who could not be bribed by a gift, by the promise of emolument, or by the crack of the party whip; it would not be long before these questions would receive the attention, in the country, and in parliament, that their importance demands. Today, in the Federal parliament one independent member has more influence than a score of partisans.

But just here emerges the crucial test. Church members will agree with the Prohibition theory; they will work with others in promoting its interests; they will pass resolutions, and will pray for its progress; but when it comes to sending true and tried representatives to Parliament, they are not willing to make the necessary sacrifice. Hence, one of the most howling farces under the sun is the spectacle of good men and women cancelling one another's influence at the polls. The farcical nature of this performance is finely illustrated by a bit of rhyme, which I have in my scrap-book, and which has done duty on many a platform. May I quote it for the benefit of your gentle readers? It is replete with the philosophy of the situation. The boys should memorize it, so that on election day they may sit on the fence and repeat it as Deacon A and Boozer B go arm in arm to the polls, or as the member of the W. C. T. U. hobnobs in the booth with Boozer B's wife. Here it is:

"Late in November, when cool was the weather,
Two ballots were cast in the box together.
They nestled up close, like brother to brother,
You could not tell one of those votes
from the other;
But they were both rum votes,
Both sanctioned the license plan;

But one was cast by a jolly old brewer
And one by a Sunday School man.
That Sunday School man had always
been noted
For fighting saloons, except when he voted—
For temperance, except when he voted—
He piled up his prayers in holy perfection,
But knocked them all down on the day
of election,
For they were both rum votes, etc.
That Sunday School man, no man could
be truer;
He spent all the summer denouncing the
brewer;
But his ardor cooled off with the change
in the weather,
And late in the autumn they voted together;
But they were both rum votes, etc."

F. H. BEALS.
Wolfville, Nov. 28th, 1925.

CAPT. ROBERT NEWCOMBE

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.

Word has been received of the death at Sydney, Australia, of Captain Robert Newcombe, at the age of sixty-nine years. He was the son of Obediah Newcombe and was born on Belcher Street, Cornwallis, where he spent his boyhood. When a young man he sailed with his cousin, Captain Roland Newcombe. After his marriage he lived in Australia. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter, his youngest son having given his life in the Great War; also one sister, Mrs. Margaret Newcombe, and two brothers, Newton and Foulis, all of Cornwallis.

Capt. Newcombe was a life long member of the Presbyterian church, of a quiet, retiring disposition, taking great delight in his home and family. His memory will always be cherished with affection.

Minard's Liniment for bruises.