distance sprinter of the American cinder path, who was beaten by J. E. Walker, the South African, at the Olympic games last summer, has received a letter from President Roosevelt expressing a wish that the young man meet Walker when the latter tours American part in the C. A. A. U. championships. If he does, he and Bobby Rerr will settle the question of supremacy. Kerr beat Walker and beat him three yards in the British 100 yard championships. He had no difficulty with him at all, but on the day of the Olympic 100 moter final the fair-haired Hamiltonian had "it" taken out of him by a hard heat in the 200 meters, and lacked the ginger and snap necessary to pull him through a really tough 100 meter battle. Billy Sherring, J. II. Crocker and all the Canucks have it stowed away in their think tanks that Kerr can peat Walker.
