A Challenge to

Mr. Donald Morison

Editor The Evening Telegram,
Dear Sir,—I read in last night's Evening Telegram, Mr. Donald Morison's denial af the authorship of the letter signed Watchman, that appeared in the Evening Herald on Friday last, but he does not attempt to deny the truth of the sectarian appeals, with which I charged him, and tries to throw the public off their guard by stating he will answer by queries, if I will publish my name in my next letter. Well, here is a challenge for Mr.
Donald Morison. If he will dare deny over his own signature that he was

Keep a jar of Bath Salts in your bathroom. You will find it extremely refreshing for the toilet. It cleans and cools the skin, renders hard water soft, assists the action of your favorite toilet soap, and diffuses a pleasjant perfume round. Lavender, Rose, Violet and Eau de Cologne perfumes, all equally nice. A good large jar for 75 cents. Bath Crystals, somewhat like the above but in smaller bottles, Coopers' Good Time.

At 2.30 yesterday afternoon the members of the Coopers' Union to the number of about 300 left here by train and proceeded to the Octagon, where they enjoyed their annual outing. On reaching the grounds, which were decorated with bunting in a testeful way the men enjoyed them.

were decorated with bunting in a tasteful way, the men enjoyed themselves playing games of football, cricket, &c., and ther lady friends enjoyed themselves watching the games or were entertained by the proprietor of the Octagon, who had everything up-to-date for the Union. Later all sat down to a splendid dinner, served in excellent style, and at ter the good things had been discussed, fluent speeches were made by Mr. Bennett, the Chairman; President W. Linegar, and ex-President J. J. Mullaly, City Councillor. Dancing was then indulged in until 3 this a.m., the City Band led by Mr. Avery discussing fine music, which it did while the Union was out on its fete. All present voted the outing one of the best ent voted the outing one of the best in the annals of the Union and com-plimented Mr. Poole on the excellent catering and arrangements he had made for their entertainment.

CITY TEAM WINS.

Good Bye!

Picnic Party,

Yesterday a number of the devotees of the good old game of cricket assembled at St. George's Field to see the first game played for the season. The match was in aid of Mount Cashel and the teams contesting were the City and Feildians. The match was decided in the issue of the first innings and went to the City by the small margin of three runs. The Feildians took the wickets first and were retired for a score of 58 runs, of which Rev. G. H. Hewitt brilliantly and quickly contributed 22; R. H. Tait, 16, and T. Winter, 10. The City went next to bat and hit up 61 runs, E. C. Clench earning a well played 19 and J. F. Foley, of Bowrings' Coastal office, 18. When the last wicket had fallen the Feildians took their second stand. When 5 wickets were down awful stew, fallen the Feildians took their second stand. When 5 wickets were down they had scored 58, of which J. E. Raley batted a careful 23 and J. A. Winter 14. The City were then put in and hit up 82 for 7 wickets, of which J. F. Foley contributed a brilliant 33, his batting being very graceful and he earning several boundaries. C. Myler played a neat game but was bowled when he had scored his 12th run. The bowling of Rev. J. Brinton was excellent and five wickets went down before his onslaught for the small score of 10 runs. Master A. Kelly, of St. Bon's, surprised all by his accurate bowling and "scattered the furniture" of 6 of the Felidian players in the first innings for 12 runs. Messrs. P. Myler, P. Wallace and J. L. Slattery were the umpires, Mr. W. J. Brown having charge of the scoring book. For the rank and file are questioning and the lights can throw no light And their one-time strong supporters are withdrawing from the fight.

The light of the Evening Herald worked hard with brush and pot. Whitewashing dear Sir Edward and the man they say forgat. While they waited for Sir Robert, while they wondered what he'd do They kept the brush a-going and they whitewashed all the crew.

But 'twas bound to scale and come off and much of it wouldn't stick For the surface was too rotten and they couldn't do the trick, When the word came that Sir Robert the helm would take again, Then, presto, change, the blackening pot was worked with might and main.

For Sir Robert's voice is thunder to them, 'twill set their nerves ajar. Yours truly,

A Sad Story.

Yesterday a number of fishermen Yesterday a number of fishermen and boats were engaged searching for the bodies of the two men. Whiteway and Earles, who were swamped outside the Narrows the day previously. Mark Earles, the older of the two, was a native of Cuckhold's Cove, Trinity. A sad circumstance and coincidence A sad circumstance and coincidence in connection with the tragedy is that Earles, who was one of our most experienced fishermen, being eleven years in charge of a dory on the Grand Banks, should meet a watery grave on the approach of his birthday, as he was born 43 years ago to-day. With reference to Mark. Whiteway, deceased, he was the only support of a widowed motherr. The sad affair is eliciting much sympathy particularly amongst fisher folks.

The B. I. S. annual outing took place yesterday at Donovan's. The attendance was large and the affair was the most successful yet held. A special train left the city at 4.30 p.m. and conveyed the party to the hostelry. At 7 p.m. an excellent supper was served, after which dancing was taken up and continued until 2 o'clock this morning, when return to town was made. Their late Vice-President, Mr. J. M.
