CALGARY MOTOR CYCLE CLUB HAS A FINE SPIN

The fifth run of the Calgary Motor-cycle club was held on Sunday, May 4, as scheduled to Pridis, but on account of a rumor having been floated to the effect that the road to Pridis was in bad shape and almost impassable, only a few of the most enthusiastic members started. The weather, outside of a few snow showers, was fine and those who had the courage to make the trip were rewarded by a most enjoyable and exciting run. One even married the proceedings, and the sympathy of the club is extended to the rider of the "Flying Merkel," who while travelling at a speed of something like forty miles per hour, attempted conclusions with a full-grown cow who was peacefully chewing the cud in the middle of the roadway. The "Flying Merkel," under force of the contact, promptly resolved itself into a mass of twisted metal, and its rider shot over the handle bars into a bed of soft mud in the ditch. The rider, however, was unhurt, and thanks to the assistance of one of the boys and his powerful twin, was able to proceed back to town.

Bankers Committed for Trial.

Today being Labour Day, the courts and all offices connected with it are closed today.

"GOOD OPPORTUNITY TO BOOST CALGARY" SAYS MRS. HAROLD RILEY

Canadian Press Women Expected June 13.

With regard to the entertainment of the Canadian Women's Press club, delegates of which are to spend June 13 in Calgary, there was a meeting of a committee from the Local Council of Women and Calgary Press club held in the "C" parlour yesterday at 3:30 p.m. The first piece of business was to appoint Miss McLennan, secretary of the committee with assistance from Miss Elliott.

Much discussion took place as to what the C.P.R. and the city were willing to do toward entertaining the press women, Mrs. Harold Riley maintaining that this was one of the best chances ever given to Calgary, not only to meet many of the brightest women of the country but also to boost the city.

Mrs. Kerby said that as many things were done for various manufacturing societies and such bodies of men, the city should be made to see that the women could do them more good or harm and should be equally well cared for.

It was stated that the city had already granted $100 and the use of the "Seeling Calgary" car and city automobiles but the women thought the city might do more than this. A committee was appointed to find out just what the C.P.R. and city were willing to do, this committee consisting of Mrs. Harold Riley, Miss McLennan, Mrs. Stanley, Miss Pinkham, Mrs. Jamieson, and Miss Heydon.

MORE DOUBLE CROSSING BY THE BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS

(Constance Errol)

Those who have been watching the suffrage force in the British house of commons need hardly be surprised at the fate of the Franchise bill, but even the most astute may be pardoned for raising their eyebrows over Mr. Asquith's present attitude. Of late we have grown accustomed to weird acrobatic feats on the part of these British politicians, but this new move of the premier's is at once so novel and so daring as to immediately rank as the star turn in a magnificent program. Surely Mr. Asquith is indeed in fear of woman's power when he so far forgot himself as to show not only his trick but the working of it. Were it not that it is so much at stake it would be wholly ludicrous, this picture of Britain's premier standing on high and shouting "We are a free nation. The voice of the people is the voice of God and that we have promised to obey. In their interests we have chosen ones to fulfill their desires as we are pledged. Here now is a measure, women and men have asked for it, have suffered and even died to obtain it—but of course they don't really want it. Do as ye will—ye are free—obeying only the people—but remember if ye see not eye to eye with me I will leave ye." And so also the sequel. The other members, afraid to lose their leader, like lost sheep follow him.

Oh, it is grotesque! This Britain, the land of the brave and the free.

It was suggested that a luncheon be given in the "C" parlour, to be followed by an automobile trip to the Sarcee reserve, where the party could have tea and be driven back to the city in time for dinner.

It was pointed out, however, that few people would then have a chance of meeting the delegates as no hall was big enough to seat the press women and the Calgary women who would wish to meet them, and it was accordingly suggested that they be taken to Sarcee reserve in the forenoon, come back to lunch in the "C" parlour and later on a reception be held in the hall to which Calgary women would be welcome.

This was thought the best idea but nothing definite could be done till reports had been received from the investigation committee.

A decorating committee was also formed consisting of Mrs. West Jones, Mrs. J. H. Woods, Mrs. Penkell, Mrs. Wooley-Dod and Miss Elliott.

An automobile committee to get together cars and arrange to have them outside the "C" hall all during the day of the 13th, was appointed as follows: Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Stanley, Mrs. Kerby, Mrs. Lawson and Miss Heydon.

Mrs. McDonald thought if the chiefs at the reserve could be persuaded to come out for inspection it would impress the visitors. She was given power to act in the matter.

being ruled, not even by a king, but by Asquith!

All honor to him in other fields—he has been defeated in many fights with more glory than he has triumphed in this, and why? Surely he was not honest with himself when he asked: "Would our political fabric be strengthened, would our executive fabric be more respected, would our social and domestic life be enriched, would our standard of manners—and by manners I mean the old-fashioned virtues of civility, courtesy and interdependence of the sexes on one another—be raised by the people who make politics into a game of 'follow-my-leader'?"

The "little island" famous for its law and order, its civility and its civility, is becoming the laughing stock of other nations, who without its ages of education have yet seen fit to grant to women, not the concession, but the right to think and act for themselves.
