THE COMMISSION. London, March 1.-At to-day's session of the Parnell commission Sir Charles Russell, on behalf of the Parnellites, applied to the court to exercise its discretion under the Commission Act and make an interim report on the genuineness of the letters that had been placed in evidence. arged that as Sir Charles Russell had stated that there was a foul conspiracy behind Houston and Pigott the cross-examination of Houston should be finished before the report was framed.

Sir Charles Russell---But we have noth ing to do now with anything except the genuineness of the letters which the Attorney-General says he cannot justify. Justice Hannen—The charge of the existence of a foul conspiracy has no bearing on the point now before us. Our jurisdiction at present is limited to charges and allegations against certain persons. It is no part of our duty to deal in the report with charges against other persons. That will be decided at the next sitting. Have seen but don't rails placed, guard consider them any more safe Should be very doubtiul if guard rails would be of any use even were the track not in repair. In the event of a broken flange the guard rails would not prevent a train from getting off the track. Don't think the accident would have been so serious if the rate of speed had been less. The difficulty is we would not get over the road on time.

John Plummer re-called-I have noticed a lurch in the baggage car. Perhaps I would feel it more than anyone on the train as I am on my feet sorting letters, and from this fact would feel it more than any one else. There are other places that we trainmen consider as dangerous as thisperhaps moreso. I have now reference to the Dundas grade, where the speed is reduced by order of the Company. I be-lieve the speed was not reduced on this oc-casion. The driver was running on time card rate of forty-five miles per hour. We trainmen always consider this grade one of the dangerous places on the road, but I consider the bridge as one of the safest on the road. I can't say that switch

The Make-up That Receives Most Credence.

Washington, March 1.-The impression prevails in some circles to-night that the Cabinet of the incoming Administration is complete with one exception, and that no further change will be made in the slate as at present arranged. This is the make-up that receives most credence:-Secretary of State, James G. Blaine; Secretary of the Treasury, William Windom; Secretary of War, Redfield Proctor; Secretary of the Navy, to be filled; Secretary of the Interior, John F. Swift; Attorney-General, John W. Noble; Postmaster-General, Jno. Wanamaker; Secretary of Agriculture, Jeremiah Rusk. It is said that Platt and Miller are distinctly out of the race, and the Platt men are much annoyed.
