By this will be meant, in time after this, a market for wheat raised in Manitoba and the Northwest chiefly. For changed circumstances are rapidly, compelling such a change of our system of farming in Ontario, that ere many years more have passed wheat will have ceased to count as a very neary article of extra transfer and the power that makes the law are both on the side of the University. It therefore behooves the city to settle as best it can.

Not need we greatly regret a change which is forcing itself upon us, and which we cannot avoid even if we would; for no reasonable man need doubt that it is for the good of the country, on the whole. Therefore, when the country, on the whole. Therefore, when we speak of finding in the future a market for Canadian wheat, it is not the wheat of Ontario that we we speak of finding in the future a commarket for Canadian wheat, it is doings of the Land League.

There is another point that we would like to bring to the attention of our contemporary: the Ontario Legislature has it within its power to pass an act, and in all probability it will pass an act, declaring that the lease of the ground in question to the city as a park was a breach of trust on the part of the University trustees, and that any agreement between the city and the University, or any act of the Legislature ratifying such agreement, is null and void and that the property therefore vests in the trustees for the purpose (educational) for which it was set apare and for no other purpose whatever.

If the University got a snap judgment the city equally got a lease that won't hold. The law and the power that makes the law are both on the side of the University. It therefore behooves the city to settle as bass it can.

President Somerville of the Traders' Procase he had taken $300 less in May this year than he did in 1887. He pointed out that traders who had two and three departments signed for each of their departments, thus giving a fictitieus importance to sheir signatures. In answer to s question from the Mayor Mr. Somerville stated that the inevitable result of the early closing law would be to drive out of business all the small traders to drive out of Sunness all the small traders. As a matter of fact he and his colleagues were in favor of short hours and would do their very heat in that direction. They now had affidavis to show that the petitions previously presented for early closing did not represent the necessary 75 per cent of the traders. They now presented petitions (and efficavits showing the genuineness of their signatures) from a large majority of traders for the repeal of the bylaw.

J. J. Binlay, gents' furnisher, stated that if the bylaw was repealed the lawsuit would be withdrawn. The repealers wanted 'no blood.'

It happens that at the present time a number of the present congregation are able and willing to offer a very handsome sum for the purpose of permanently improving the old church, giving it among other things a new and magnificent eigen unsurpassed for church purposes by any on this continuent. Muscally and architecturally St. James will then be a structure which the citizens of Toronto will be proud to own as the original purish church of their sarly history. Such offers being made it is the duty of the churchwardens to submit them to the vestry for their acceptance. Will the opportunity of acquiring these improvements as a gift ever recur again? To rebuff such an offer by requesting the denors to first pay off an inherited deut on the church, would be at least as impertinent as is would be absurd.

It will be less impertinent to enquire upon what authority The Dominion Churchman tates that the cathedral is loaded with a deto of $80,000. The churchwardens, who are quite accessible to enquiry, might have relieved the mind of the editor on this score. If he had ever referred to the accounts, which were published at the Easter vestry meeting this year.

mind of the editor on this score. If he had ever referred to the accounts, which were published at the Easter vestry meeting this year, he would have been reminded of the fact then shown to the congregation that the church-wardens had succeeded in putting the debt in such a position that it could no longer be regarded as a burden upon the church; not only the interest, but even the ultimate liquidation of the principal being now absolutely provided for out of the increase arising from she property is due to the generosity and has been husbanded by the forethought of a previous generation of the same congregation which, in the eyes of The Dominion Churchman, has always been so narrow and illiberal. It will soon be seen, I believe, that the present congregation will not be wanting in anything required to complete what their predecessors have so well begun.
