I also notice the fact of the gentleman I refer to quoting from The Toronto World a large number of names, who, it is alleged, have made money speculating in wheat. I presume he is aware that quite a number of speculators in the Dominion confine their operations exclusively to Chicago options, or as some dealers baptized it, Chicago wind. While it is alleged that a large amount of money has been lost by Canadian speculators during the last three years, it is now currently reported that there has been quite a number of lucky speculators is now currently reported that there has been quite a number of lucky speculators on the right side of the Chicago wind market lately. I presume as long as option selling is legal in United States, this Liberal has no objection to the Canadian speculators on the Chicago market taking chances of making or losing money. In a word I may say that since January, 1895, the stocks of wheat held by millers and speculators in the Dominion were much lower than they have been for a number of, years, consequently in the

In the Dominion a few millers are the only holders of wheat outside of the farmers; consequently it is not in their interest to depress the market, especially as this Libers' maintains for the property wheat the second of the second of the farmers of the second of the farmers of the second of the farmers of the second erai maintains farmers have no wheat to sell. I presume he does not wish to interfere with the Canadian Chicago option buyer, who may have unloaded and is now trying to depress the market so that he may load up again on a lower

I enclose you a copy of some remarks made at the annual meeting of the Montreal Board of Trade, last January, in reference to the re-importation of Manitoba wheat from Buffalo, said wheat shipped through for export to the English market, speculators wishing to throw this wheat on the Canadian market, provided they could do so without paying duty, as Ontario wheat was then selling above an export hasis. The re-imports office Eking-street W. Telsphone 1879. above an export basis. The re-imports tion of this wheat would certainly hav been decidedly against the interest of the Manitoba farmer, who is now so my benefited by the home market. I a
