THE BEST INVESTMENT.

(From the American Cultivator.)

IN these days of over production, many people are looking about for an investment that will pay. One industry is certainly not overdone—raising poultry and eggs for market. Success will continue to come if you know how. Therefore the best investment a poultry raiser can make, is one dollar for a year's subscription to Farm Poultry, which teaches how to keep poultry for profit. We have no doubt in saying that the best poultry paper which comes to our office is Farm Poultry, published semi-monthly. This paper is edited with great care, and published at large expense, showing that the publishers are determined to give their readers full value for the subscription price. We can hardly conceive of any one engaged in poultry business who could afford to be without this valuable assistance. It contains the experience and observations of the best work of many breeders, while its editors are practical men in the poultry business, who have been successful. A sample copy of Farm Poultry can be obtained free by any of our readers who apply to L. S. Johnson & Co., Boston, Mass. Farm Poultry is a model poultry paper. We congratulate the publishers. It stands in the front rank of journals devoted to the growing poultry industry. Certainly there is no industry in which families living near large towns, on the farm or in the village, can not find a useful and enjoyable time as raising poultry and eggs for market.

ANOTHER LETTER.

MONTEVE, Feb. 10th, 1897.

Messrs. Gould, Shapley & Muir Co., Ltd., Brantford, Ont.
 Gentlemen—The "1 ft. 'Ideal'" Steel Wind Mill and "Maple Leaf" Grinder purchased from your agent, T. H. Rose, Wincham, is giving good satisfaction; in fact I think it will do more than 3 on claim for it in a strong wind. I have ground 25 bushels of peas and oats mixed in an hour, and it will cut feed faster than a man can feed it. It is far ahead of horse power or any other power for farm work. The roller and ball bearings are a great improvement on windmills and grinders; they take off nearly all the friction caused by the end pressure, and consequently the mill runs easier than other mills. Your method of operating the mill is the best I have ever seen. I can recommend the mill to any farmer wanting power.

PETER McEWEN.
