Spring Millinery

A special demonstration of our own styles from our own workrooms will be the feature of the Millinery Salons on Tuesday.

The models will consist of adaptations from imported hats as well as original creations. Naturally, the styles are quite exclusive, and they one and all bear the Simpson hall-mark of quality.

You will find these offerings most seasonable if you are looking for an Easter hat of moderate price in truly chic yet wearable form.

Black Suiting Silks in Great Demand

And never a better array of materials to meet it. Foremost are Black Silk Moires. The hard, stiff moires of other years have given place to soft moire velours, moire brocades, and elegant shadmoires. The last named is the most distinctive weave we have. The faint watered effects in flower and leaf designs, make changing light and shade with every movement.

Black Taffetas are rich and supple and in daily demand. Black Silk Poplins, this particular weave, though not a fast seller some weeks ago, is now asked for constantly.

(Second Floor.)

Black Dress Goods and Suitings Feature

A beautiful and immense showing of guaranteed black fabrics from the best European makers, in all the newest weaves and designs, as well as the more staple fabrics, including black poplins, sea tows and epingle cordes. Black Permo Tussore Royal, a fabric with the appearance of silk and absolutely unmatchable.

Black Wool Crepe-de-Chenes, in reliable qualities, best French dyes and finish, are very popular. Black Silk and Wool Crepes, plain and brocaded effects. Black Silk and Wool Ford-de-Chenes, in weights suitable for dresses, suits, or coats.

Black Silk or Wool Poplins and Ottoman Cordes, in suiting weights and for separate coats. Black Silk and Wool Moire, very popular for suits or separate coats. Black Brocaded Suitings, in a big variety of designs, in weights for dresses, suits, and coats.

Black Broadcloths, English, French, German and Austrian cloths, in rich shade, gloves and pashon finishes, all thoroughly shrunken and spotproof. English and French Serges, the finest stock in the De-able, etc.
