

The peculiarity in Gould's Writing Book is in the placing of the copy lines inside the cover folded down. In writing, the lines can be exposed, so as to use them on any or every one of the pages of the copy book—an admirable plan.

Chambers' Writing—Plain, Current hand, and Ornamental—in fifteen prepared copy books. In those systems of writing which have come under the notice of the Editors, numerous formations are introduced which cannot be imitated by the pen without retouching; while, at the same time, the most difficult junctions and combinations are too frequently associated with the earlier and more simple exercises. In the present system, which aspires to some degree of originality, care has been taken to avoid every refinement of engraving inconsistent with practical penmanship; a simple yet graceful style of writing has been aimed at; and the series rendered strictly progressive Post size.
