Crop Summary.

Broomhall's weekly crop summary is as $4.90; strong bakers', $4.70. Broomhall's weekly crop summary is as follows:

United Kingdom.—The weather continues wet, and the sowing of the new crop is still delayed, while the outlook for that already sown is unfavorable.

France.—Floods still continue, and the agricultural situation is very unfavorable. Much of the new crop has not been sown, and that already sown shows a poor condition. Supplies of native wheat show some increase, but still are smaller than last year. The quality is poor.

Germany.—The condition of late-sown wheat is rather poor; otherwise the outlook is generally favorable. Supplies of native wheat are increasing. Both the local and export demand shows continued improvement.

Wheat-Lower caples induced some sell-previously stated, receipts are lighter, and cash demand improved and crop pros-advise purchases on all good declines for moderate profits.

by local professionals, a moderate rally took place. Buying was presumably in anticipation of a builish government report to-morrow, as there was nothing in the news to cause any firmness. The strength in December wheat possibly added to the builish feeling of the professionals, but this strength, as we understand it, was caused by belated shorts covering, rather than by any change in the cash situation. As long as the market continues of such a purely professional character opinions are valueless.

Corp—The action in corn to-day was as correspondingly weak as it was strongly cuterday. The lack of short interest was very apparent, and the weakness in the Thoroughbred Bull Calves of both bree!s

trees of the shorts had at least been allayed for the time being. All evidence pointed conclusively to the fact that the country was selling freely on the advance. In our opinion the market is in a technically weaker speculative position than at any time in ten days.

Oats—The market shared in the weakness of corn, and in this instance also the December future was the weakest. We are inclined to believe that the short inferest is small, and on any decline the market will lack support from that quarter. Bullish Government Report

WEAKNESS IN SPECIALTIES

Heaviness in Little Nipissing and one or two other Cobalt stocks is due to an overestimated speculative position in these securities. Eliminating these, the market was steadily firm yesterday, with strength in Temiskaming on the belief that another dividend and a bonus will be declared next Saturday. Good opportunities are now being presented to purchasers, and on the weak spots we recommend Bailey, Temiskaming and Gould,
