Why EDDY'S Matches are Better

THERE are two big reasons why Eddy's Matches are better than others. The first is wood, and the second is machinery. Matches require soft, smooth-fibred pine. Other wood does not make a perfect product. The House of Eddy can use only perfect blocks for matches because the rest of the wood can be used for paper or indurated fibreware.

The perfect match is the machine-made match. Absolute uniformity can be obtained in no other way. But match-making machinery is expensive to install and to operate. It requires a tremendous output to make its use profitable. No small manufacturer can afford to use it. 70,000,000 matches a day enable the House of Eddy to maintain automatic machines which would be impossible with a small output.

Think of this when you buy matches. Eddy's matches represent no waste—no use of poor material—no variations from standard. In these days when the tax on matches more than doubles their cost to you, it is worth while to consider the subject a little more closely.

When you buy matches see that Eddy's name is on the box. It is your best guarantee of satisfaction.

PLAYS, PICTURES AND MUSIC

AT ROYAL ALEXANDRA
Robins Players Continue Series of Triumphs in "Nothing But the Truth."

No mistake was made by the Robins Players in reviving "Nothing But the Truth" for the second Exhibition week. The Royal Alexandra last night was packed to the legal capacity, and more. The orchestra was shoved out of the house and the space filled with visions, while the musicians made muffled music behind the curtain.

And when the curtain went up it was one long roar of laughter till it was down again, and the exhausted audience eased their sides and relaxed their jaws and got ready for the next act. So it went till the close.

The company has never played with more snap and vivacity. Robert Homans, E. H. Robbins, Reina Caruthers, Madeline Delmar and all the others, together with the Royal Alexandra orchestra, gave a comedy presentation of the season.

"LOVE AND KISSES."

Top Line Burlesque Featuring Thelma Fraley at Loew's Followed by Excellent Vaudeville.

An exceptionally good combination of vaudeville and pictures is offered this week by the management of Loew's Theatre and Winter Garden. "Love and Kisses," the top-line, appears here for the first time. It is a clever little burlesque featuring Thelma Fraley and those two comedians, Eddie Reilly and Jack Collins, and has a chorus of five Broadway beauties.

The picture feature, portraying Wm. S. Hart as a desert guide, is a gripping story of the west in the '90s. Loew's British Weekly and the "Mutt and Jeff" animated cartoons are also shown.

Another feature is the "Gray Ghost," by Ralph T. Kettering, a piece with a weird uncanny atmosphere dealing with spiritualism. Tommy Van and Sarah Vernon make a hit in their turn called "A Peach and a Stew," and Race and Edge keep the audience in laughter thru out their bit "On London Bridge."

Edge keep the audience in laughter thru out their bit "On London Bridge." Drama and comedy, marvels of the wire, John E. Henshaw and Grace Avery, and Billy Brown, a clever colored singer and entertainer, complete the bill.

GOOD FILM AT MADISON.

The feature at the Madison Theatre for the first half of this week is a strong social drama, "The Bishop's Emeralds," with Virginia Pearson in the principal part. The plot of this photoplay, which abounds in dramatic situations, is exceptionally well-written, the interest never flagging thru out.

Virginia Pearson, whose beauty and brilliancy are rapidly making her one of the prime favorites of the motion picture world, has a role to which she is eminently suited.

AT SHEA'S.

Several Acts of Exceptionally Good Vaudeville Keeps Holiday Audiences Fully Interested.

On an exceptionally good bill at Shea's Theatre this week, several acts are of outstanding interest. The most of these, Miss Ann and Irene, with David Schooner, have a show of surprising grace and beauty, with stage dance numbers and costumes which are daintily effective.

Mr. Schooner at the piano in a quaint velvet coat, is a delight, and the film in between, dance numbers with some music which took the house by storm. The dancers interpret several original ideas, and at all times show a finished grace and charm.

"Shoes" an offering of Miss Bayonne Whipple and Walter Huston, is a surprise packet for the vaudeville stage. A delightfully original theme concerning the shoes of happiness, is delicately brought out in a rather subtle way, and reaches its climax before the eyes of the audience.

Mr. Huston was contagious and the little act combines humor and pathos worked out with a masterly hand before one's eyes. The enjoyable humor of Mr. Huston was contagious and the little act combines humor and pathos worked out with a masterly hand before one's eyes.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE-RECENT

Appears in Admirable Comedy Unusually Well Acted at Popular Playhouse.

Constance Talmadge, playing lead in "The Lady's Name," affords Toronto audiences an admirable comedy unusually well-played. It is a story of a young girl, intelligent, amusing and best of all novel. The star plays the part of a young girl, interested in types because of their "copy" value. She advertises in a paper for a certain kind of man, and the result is a series of comical encounters.

Following the advice of a man-hating chum she goes, in the last reel, to the zoo to study the animals and is so interested in the impression of novel wit, topical reviews and selections by the orchestra complete a very good entertainment.

"AUCTION OF SOULS."

"Auction of Souls," at the Strand Theatre this week, is again drawing large crowds to witness an entirely faithful picture of a horrible persecution. Aurora Mardiganian, who went thru the scenes in reality, is a "tormentor" who has the force of a whole nation's suffering behind her efforts. Events which happened while the Turkish empire was being destroyed by a peaceful nation, and utterly destroyed the home-life of the industrious, sheep-raising Armenians, are brought out with a terrible realism. The theme of the film, the massed crowds, which give that vivid touch, and the splendid acting of Miss Mardiganian, make "Auction of Souls" a picture to be seen and remembered.

"BEVO" AT THE STAR.

Famous Burlesque Comedian Makes Big Hit in His New Character Part.

It is a long time since the Star Theatre has been able to boast of having a comedian like Tommy Snyder, holding down the boards. Snyder is known to the burlesque world as "Bozo the Piano-Mover." The act of Snyder and Hayes is known to nearly every fan that attended a burlesque show. This year Snyder has dropped his stage name of "Bozo" and appearing alone in burlesque.

BASE BALL

TORONTO v BUFFALO TODAY, 3.15 P.M.

league is billed as "Bevo." It is a real treat to see a silent comedian come out on a burlesque stage. Snyder dances and provides two and one-half hours of real comedy without saying a word. Burney Gerrard has chosen "Some Show" for the title of the attraction, and judging by the reception it got last night it was well named. The large crowd applauded at every number and the chorus was forced to respond in every song.

Vaudeville specialties are given by the principals. Bertie De Milt, "the personality girl," has a selection of pleasing numbers. Evelyn Stevens, prima donna, sings songs chosen for her numbers by herself, while Babe Healey, a singer-soubrette. She shows life and the chorus have to step every time she brings them before the footlights. The show is a real exhibition one and capacity audiences ought to be the order at every show this week.
