Pale people have pale blood. In other words, the blood is watery and lacks red corpuscies.

The stomach is wrong.

Assimilation is poor and food is not changed into blood. Naturally the sys-

Don't slip from vigor into weakness. Don't allow the appetite to fail, but instead use Ferrozone.

You're bound to feel rejuvenated and strengthened at once.

Appetite is braced up, digestion is stimulated, vigor imparted to the stomach. Everything you eat is trans-formed into nutriment that supplies what your thin weak system needs. Vital, life-giving blood that makes rosy cheeks and dancing eyes—that's the kind that Ferrozone makes.

The strength and buoyancy that defies depression and tiredness, that's the sort you get with Ferrozone. Every pale woman can transform her bleached out appearance with Fer-tone that won her an enthusiastic recall, while her Moszkowski, "Tarantella" was equally brilliant.

Miss Yaw chose for her first number Delibes "Bell Song," from Lakma in the original key and she could have selected nothing that would have shown to more advantage the undoubtedly wonderful properties of her voice, the limitative "bell" notes being remarkably clear, pure and reabounding in good humor, clever satire, oner to examine Burt.

The case was traversed to the March real wit and novelty. It sparkles with ful songs interspersed, making up most delightful entertainment in it entirety. It woul take a whole col-umn to tell all about it, but it will suffice to say that the story of "codfish aristocracy" was perhaps never half so well told, and the effort of the Hibernian contingent to mix in with the blue bloods, after years of life in "Shantytown," is just so funny that it cannot be described.

The scenes shift successively from among a lot off laborers in New York to a swell sum-mer hotel on the Hudson, and then into upper tendom, in a manner that is simply irresistible, and the complicated love-making and generally misunderstood and mixed-up affairs of the old couple as well as the younger ones serves well the mirthful purpose of the writers. The production is staged in magnificent style. There is in sup-port of the stars a company of talented people, which includes a chorus of 25 girls, whose singing and dancing is a feature of high merit in itself. They feature of high merit in itself. They are well versed in the bewitching art of coquetry and wear becoming gowns most pleasingly and gracefully. Among the big song hits are the latest and most tuneful that have yet been pro duced, notably "The Strike Song," "If I Could Only Land a Millionaire,"
"I'm the Boy." "That's What the Papers Say." "Ting-a-Ling, Ping-Pong," "Daughter of the Regiment," "Romeo and Juliette." "Sure, Mike." "The Mar-riage ame." "If Women Had Their Way." "The Bashful Chappie Boys" and others of equal merit and tune-

As was naturally expected, owing to precedent, the card at Shea's this week again embraces a nice and clever variety of entertainment, which will please a lot of people. It isn't all told on the outside pictures, either. The feature that attracts the eye and makes even the wise ones wonder is the spectacular electrical ballet. "Star produced by the Harndin Co. It is superbly staged, and the illuminations of the costumes gracefully worn by about 30 girls produce a stupendous effect, which moves one to a big meeting in Woodmen's Hall, when mystery. The act closes with a mar-velous shower of incandescent lights, the gorgeousness of which made the audience manifest its appreciation several times by applause, for more. Some smart juggling by Nessen, Hunter and Nessen, sows good humor at the start. The three Mitchells, lively with tongue and foot, foster the fun smith Julie Vingsley and Levil spirit. Julia Kingsley and Lewis Nelson keep it up with a laughing sketch called, "After the Honeymoon." The Elinore Sisters follow, and make more fun than all the rest of them. The Royal Musical Five contribute a clever specialty, and Fields and Ward ineffervescent activity and overflows with laugh-prevoking situations. There are three acts of hilarious merriment and a plentiful supply of whistly, tuneful songs interspersed, making up a

Queen of the Highbinders—Majestic
Better than ever and with a series of climaxes that can compare with any melodrama on the boards "The Queen of the Highbinders" is at the Majestic again. From the rise to the fall of the curtain the seentiment of the play is of the sort which appears irresistably to all lovers of the play. Taking as a basis for the piece the machinations of the dreaded Oriental Secret Service Society known as the Highbinders, and giving to them as their queen an unscrupulous white woman, queen an unscrupulous white woman, the author has developed a remarkably the author has developed a remarkably strong melodrama, in which vice and virtue struggle thru a series of exciting scenes to the usual happy denouement. The scenery depicting the Chinatown district is of a most realistic and picturesque sort, while the varied characterizations introduced are most creditably presented by a splendid company. Daily matinees will be given.

Watson's Burlesquers-Star It was easily to be seen that William B. Watson is as much a favorite as of old by the way the crowd wel-comed him at both performances, at some 30 pretty featured young ladies and half a dozen good comedians, gave an entertainment of special note. The production includes the usual two burlesques, with the in-between olfo. The first skit is entitled 'The Mormons," which Watson takes the part of Archibald Prim, a avely young gentleman of Josephsmithian tendencies. The second is called "The Bashful Venus." and is presented in four scenes. The olio program is given of two charming little English singers and a real hero, tho he was a little far- wooden shoe dancers. Flo and Lille fetched. Emma Littlefield as Bennet's Millership; something new by Toni real bride, looked a genuine "footlights" and Fuji Yamamoto, Japanse wire artists: and Charles Gracie and Lew Rey-nolds, two very funny Irish comedians. Splendid choruses and gorgeous costumes and staging are a feature of the show, which stands in the first rank of the burlesque attractions which have been along this season.

These dainty books are now on sale in our Book Annex at 25 cents each, and with 180 titles to choose from, it is practically impossible to give you a list that would be at all complete. They are very prettily bound in cloth, and a most attractive cover; boxed and ready for mailing.
