LIBEL CASE DISMISSED

But Justice Latchford Says That the Article Complained of Was-Bad-5 Years for Rebber.

HAMILTON, March, 2.-(Special.)-I think the proper course is to withdraw the case from the jury on the ground that there is no evidence to connect C. F. Mills with the article. There was not the slightest justification for its publication, and it is a disgrace to journalism that anyone should be assailed in the columns of a newspaper as some one has in this paper. said Justice Latchford this afterno at the close of the trial of the action brought by F. C. Mills, sporting editor of The Times, against M. M. Robinson, sporting editor of The Spectator, for criminal libel. His lordship then instructed the jury to bring in a formal verdict of not guilty, after which he dismissed the action without costs. The cash was called after the noon adjourn. The Firm That Broke the Price ment and was concluded in about two hours. When Robinson was arraignhours. When Robinson was arraighted G. S. Staunton, K. C., moved that the indictment be quashed on the grounds that it was imperfect because it did not include the words "or insulting him." As soon as the first juror was called he was challenged by Mr. Washington, who acted for the private prosecutor, and Mr. Staunton ob-decred and was sustained.

The alleged libel was contained in a paragraph that appeared in the sporting columns of The Spectator, in which it was stated that Referee Mills evidently arranged what the decision should be in a wrestling match that was held in Brantford some time ago with Tommy Daley, hoping thereby to take up a little soft stuff. Mr. Washington called several witnesses from The Spectator office to try and
