PLAYS, PICTURES AND MUSIC

THE ROBINS PLAYERS.

AT SHEA'S NEXT WEEK.

The headline attraction at Shea's Theatre next week will be Florence Moore and her brother, Frank Moore, in a melange of mirth and melody. Frank Milton and the De Long Sisters will present their laugh-provoking sketch, "The Diamond Palace." Maleta Bonconl, the celebrated violin vistuoso; the Six Water Lilies, Harry Holman and company, Ray and Gordon Dooley, George M. Rosener, the Emalina Trio complete the bill.

GAYETY.

Next week will be jubilee week at the Star Theatre when the Star Giris will open a week's engagement. Those inimitable comedians, Natt Cobb and Irving Gear, will lead the fun brigade, while Lenore Luther will sing a spe-cially selected number of songs. Bes-sie Crandail also possesses a sweet voice. Others prominent are the vau-darille.

PETROVA AT STRAND.

The Strand Theatre under its new management intends to be known as the theatre where all the big stars are to be seen. And, in this respect, it is certainly getting off to a good start the first half of next week, when the feature photoplay will be "The Black Butterfly," with Madame Olga Petrova in the principal next. Her role in this in the principal part. Her role in this great emotional photo-drama is a dual one, and the magnificent manner in which she plays it constitutes the most signal triumph of her career.

MARY PICKFORD AT THE RE-

"A Poor Little Rich Girl," the great "A Poor Little Rich Girl," the great stage success from the book written by Eleanor Gates, is the big feature attraction at the Regent all next week. This great success, starring the adorable Mary, is unique in the successful manner in which it will interest both a child and a grown-up. In this character we welcome an entirely new "Mary," whose personal charm and fascinations are enhanced a hundredfold by the subtle art of a hundredfold by the subtle art of an actress who lives in the character of lonely Little Gwendolyn. The eleventh episode of "The Secret Kingdom" will also be shown, and a perfect sotting of incidental music will be played by the Regent Symphony Orchestra.

June IS a little later to start those gardens, but AUNT JUNE sends seeds fer helpers to plant in May. See Sunday World.

GARDENING

The First Vegetables to Plant.

There are certain vegetables which like the cool damp earth of earny spring. There are certain vegetables which like the cool damp earth of earny spring. These should be planted just as soon as you can get on the ground. Spread old manure over the ground two or three inches deep and dig in thoroly.

It is as well to dig pretty deeply about the inches. Rake it carefully seeing that all imps are broken up. The ground is the inches. Rake it carefully seeing that all imps are broken up. The ground is then ready for the seed.

The first seed to plant is beas. They thrive on the cool earth of early spring. In fact if the ground has been prepared in the fall and furrows made they can be used in this way from time in the fall and furrows made they can be delicious for stews and soups and they can be used in this way from time of the cool of the garden. If your gard the chert parts of the garden. If your gard the chert parts of the garden. If your gard the other parts of the garden. If your gard the chert was the fence to save room, in the fall, and turnows made they can be used in this way from time of the chert parts of the garden. If your gard the chert parts of the garden. If your gard the chert parts of the garden in the fall, gives best results. Work for them to climb on.

You should always grow an early and a late kind of peas to lengthen the table season. For early peas plant an inches a late kind of peas to lengthen the table as a late kind of peas to lengthen the table as a late kind of peas to lengthen the table as a late kind of peas to lengthen the table as a late kind of peas to lengthen the table as a late kind of peas to lengthen the table as a late kind of peas to lengthen the table as a late kind of peas to lengthen the table as a late kind of peas to lengthen the table as a late kind of peas to lengthen the table as a late kind of peas to lengthen the table as a late kind of peas to lengthen the late the pease of the rese of the pease of the rese of the pease

Another early planter is the onion. You can grow them from seeds or from "sets," which are small onions that are sold by the pound. Try some of both. Incidentally do not forget to put in a few shallots. They are small onions which produce a bunch of small ones that are delicious unless you are going and are delicious unless you are going and a set of the soil in the furrows. If the seeds come into content the furrows. If the seeds come into content the furrows. If the seeds come into content with the fertilizer with the form of them. This is a common error and explains why a great many seeds fail to sprout. The seedsman is not always to blame.

shallots, shove them into the ground, till the top of the bulb is helf an inch below the surface. They should be about three to four inches apart in the rows and the rows should be nine inches apart, better a foot if you have the space to spare. Firm the earth down, water liberally and you will see the green shoots in a couple of weeks.

Two other early vegetables are carrots and parsnips. They require the same

In 1930-What?

The telephone engineer must look ahead. He must plan ten, fifteen even twenty years in Telephone plant is too expensive for haphazard construction. Accurate estimates of a city's needs must be made after exhaustive study and investigation.

Our engineers figure that by 1930 Toronto's telephones will have increased from 64,400 as at present, to 150,000. If the calling rate per telephone be as high then as now it will mean nearly a million and a quarter calls each day for the operators

Only careful planning, painstaking study and scientific engineering will take care of a city's telephone needs.

Announcements

Many in Toronto learned with great regret of the death of Mrs. R. L. Brereton, of 25 Admiral road, who died early yesterday morning after a few days' illness from pneumonia. Mrs. Brereton was a member of many organizations, among which was the national council of women, which lately honored her by making her a life patron. She was also an active member of the alumni of the Philharmonic Society and an enthusiastic United Empire Loyalist.

Kindness'to all and the desire to help in many directions—a desire which she found opportunity to put into practice by assistance of purse and personal service—made Mrs. Brereton many friends, who now extend sincere sympathy to her bereaved family. ment we must emphatically association includes in its over forty of the leading master painters and deco not a single member has such stipulations or agreed reserve the right to grade wages according to the efficiency of the men in Our association is not w efficiency of the men in our employ. Our association is not unmindful of the strenuous times through which we are now passing. The best interests of our employes have always received due consideration by our membership, and on more than one occasion the rate of wages has been increased without any solicitation on their part, because of the present high cost of living which affects both the employer and employes alike. Capable workmen as now receiving, and have for some time been receiving, a higher wage than that which is now being demanded by the strikers. Such action was taken by our association long before the present agitation was set on foot, and we are in no way responsible for the uneastness which now exists, it having been precipitated purely on the initiative of the employes themselves.
