GILBERT'S GROCERY

The Man In The Street

No, Dear Reader, these civic debentures which went down with the Hectorian cannot be said to constitute a sinking fund.

If the future supply of woolen goods and dye-stuffs is as scant as dealers say, may we look forward to the day when we will have to fall back on our pyjamas for business and social wear?

Seems to be as many changes in the Grecian situation these days as there have been in the St. John police force.

First thing you know the Kaiser will be offering to bribe King Constantine with a gift of the Philippine Islands.

Of course he does not own them but a little thing like that did not prevent him from offering Gibraltar to the King of Spain.

Financiers and statesmen are warning us that we must economize during war times. That's right; we must, if we hope to be able to pay our bills at war time prices.

The man of the street does not seem quite as anxious to get away from St. John as they were when they first arrived. Perhaps they have found the city more attractive than their first impressions led them to believe.

Morning paper refers to a soldier who has been transferred to one of the infantry battalions from the batteries on Partridge Island. Sounds as if he had been picked for a pinch hitter.

Banking Arithmetic.

London banks will close an hour earlier "because of the depletion of their staffs through enlistment." Apparently working on the theory that the less men they have the less time it will take them to do their work.

That diamond crossing for Douglas seems to be being avoided with much eagerness as if it were a real diamond company is providing for the patrons of the street.

Just about the time the street railway gets its through service to West St. John completed some one will be ready to organize a jitney air-bus line in competition.

FOR DEFINITE POLICY TO LEAD TO PROHIBITION

C. W. Weyman is president and A. C. M. Lawson secretary.

CLAN MACKENZIE AND LADIES ENTERTAIN SCOTTISH MEMBERS OF THE 52ND BATTALION

The members of the Clan MacKenzie and their ladies auxiliary entertained a large number of the Scottish members of the 52nd Battalion at an informal entertainment and dance in their rooms in Germain street last evening. An impromptu programme was arranged in which several of the soldier guests assisted. Among the features of the programme was a sword dance by Private Duncan of the 52nd and the Highland fling by Puck-Chief MacDonald of the clan. Refreshments were served and the gathering dispersed about midnight, after an evening which was thoroughly enjoyed by both the guests and their hosts.

HON. GEORGE J. COLTHER IS DEAD

Brother of Post Office Inspector Passes Away at 75

Hon. George J. Colther, former chief commissioner of public works in the provincial government, died this morning at his home in York county, after a illness from cancer. He was a native of Sheffield, but for the greater part of his life resided on a farm at the Mouth of Keswick. He represented the Parish of Douglas in the municipal council for many years and in 1882 was elected to the legislature. In May of that year, he was sworn in as commissioner of public works in the Harrington government and holding portfolio until March of the following year, when the ministry resigned and gave way to the Blair government.

In 1896 he was again a candidate for the legislature and was defeated. At a bye-election in 1899 he unsuccessfully contested York as a member of the famous Big Four ticket against Premier Blair and his colleagues. He continued to take an active interest in public affairs and for some time was president of the York Liberal-Conservative Association.

He was reported to be the wealthiest man in York county. He was seventy-five years of age and leaves one son, Ashley A. Colther of this city, three brothers, Dr. N. B. Colther, post office inspector, St. John; James of Fredericton and Thomas of the mouth of Keswick, and two sisters, Mrs. Allanson McNally of St. Mary's and Mrs. Thomas Murray of Fredericton. The funeral will take place at Mouth of Keswick on Friday afternoon.

WOULD HAVE BEEN A COSTLY GIFT OF TOBACCO FOR HIM

Wounded Soldier Writes That He Was Asked to Pay $5.70 Duty on Three Pounds

Attention has been drawn in several issues of the Times to the matter of duty being charged on parcels of tobacco sent to soldiers in England, whether in hospital or just discharged from hospital. Apparently the practice is being continued, for in a letter received last week by Robert Beckwith, 22 Brunsate street, from his brother Private John Beckwith, he reported having been asked to pay $5.70 on a package of tobacco weighing three pounds.

"I am now out of hospital," wrote the soldier who left with the first contingent and was severely wounded and taken prisoner in Germany, "and compelled to hobble about on the crutches I expect soon to be invalided home to Canada as I have already been passed upon by the board. I received a parcel of tobacco lately but could not take delivery of it or rather I would not for I did not wish to pay duty for it."

"Friends of soldiers' families in Canada working why some agreement is not made as to soldiers getting such packages free of duty."

LETTER TO HOME FROM KENNETH LINTON, A FAIRVILLE SOLDIER

Mrs. A. Linton of Main street, Fairville has received a letter from her son, Private Kenneth, of the 29th Battalion. In part it was as follows: "I am well and getting along. We are getting used to trench life now. We have six days in the trenches and six days out for a rest. When we come out we generally go about five miles back of the trenches. There we get a bath and a change of clothes. They are certainly looking after us pretty well.

"One of our men has won the D. C. medal for killing eleven Germans and rescuing one of our men. It seems that each time we go into the trenches someone has got to get it. The last time we were in the trenches we were pretty lucky; of course we are not allowed to mention the number of casualties. It is not so bad in the trenches as I thought it would be. We have little dug-outs to sleep in when we are off duty.

"Well, mother, I hope this letter will find you all well and happy, don't worry about me, I will get along all right. If I hadn't enlisted when I did I wouldn't have gone later. I would be ashamed to walk the streets in civilian clothes. They are having a hard time to get recruits, but if some of them saw the grave yards out here I don't think they would be satisfied to stay at home, they would want to have revenge for our brothers who have gone before us. Remember me to all the boys."

Private Linton refers to a treat which followed receipt of a box, cake and candy, by Tom Rowley. He asks for a pair of shoe packs, reaching to the knees, for protection in the wet weather. Candy, chocolate, socks, gloves, writing paper, cookies, cakes, Oxo tubes, handkerchiefs, chewing gum, preserves, and condensed coffee, also are welcome.
