Both old and new addresses must be given. CANCELLATIONS We find that most of our subscribers prefer not to have their subscriptions interrupted in case they fail to remit before expiration. While subscriptions will not be carried in arrears over an extended period, yet unless we are notified to cancel, we assume the subscriber wishes the service continued.

What to Expect Next Week

NEXT week will be our issue of November 10th. We mention this because that leaves two more issues before the Anniversary Number of the Canadian Courier. We have promised a feature of great interest for that number in the announcement of our programme for the year 1918. This two-page feature of interest regarding the people who really make the Canadian Courier will be read by everybody who takes the paper, because it will be a feature of plain human interest concerning those who work at the business of entertaining other people.

But we are not putting all our eggs in that basket. Next week we shall prove the value of what we say about the December 1st announcement by giving the readers of the paper several things of high-average interest. Not least among these will be the Editor's examination of the character of Sir Joseph Flavelle. We have written him before. The recent bacon inquiry has put new light on the character of the man about whom millions of people have been talking of late, and the Chairman of the Imperial Munitions Board. This feature is not included this week because we need all the time possible to get a just estimate of the man from both sides of the fence.

Expect also a well-illustrated Celebration of the Telephone as embodied in the events at Brantford last week. The unveiling of the Bell Memorial took place two days too late to be featured in the present issue. There never has been a world-revolutionizing invention that claimed Canada as its birthplace and a Canadian as its author to compare with the telephone. We propose to give this feature the prominence it deserves.

We shall begin in our issue of November 10, also a new campaign of popular interest which has to do with the experience and the opinions of thousands of people all over Canada. "What is the Matter with My Town?" will give a large proportion of our readers a chance to take a still more practical interest in popular features for the paper.

A story—taken from life—by Archibald MacMechan will be given in that issue. We have had this for some weeks, waiting for a good chance to give it the treatment it deserves. And it will be a good story.

Our second instalment of the Amateur Music Master by Major B. Flat will be another thing you will read in that issue. Add to this a rattling good short story, Coryn's War Page, and all the other regularities that make up the paper and we can demonstrate that we are making a good run up the grade before we get to our Year's Prospectus for the issue of December 1st.

With Fingers! Corns Lift Out.

Apply a few drops then lift corns or calluses off—no pain

For a few cents you can get a small bottle of the magic drug freezone recently discovered by a Cincinnati man.

Just ask at any drug store for a small bottle of freezone. Apply a few drops upon a tender, aching corn and instantly, yes immediately, all soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn so loose that you lift it out, root and all, with the fingers.

Just think! Not one bit of pain before applying freezone or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also hardened calluses on bottom of feet just seem to shrivel up and fall off without hurting a particle. It is almost magical.
