UNB (campus poop) There is no relief seen in store for the Library, in the near future. "There is, like, no room at the other Liberry," commented one perceptive observer on Sunday.

Public Relations chairman, Ron McBrine, stated that the building campaign at UNB, which has been underway for some time now, is getting off to a slow start, and is, in fact, realizing only about 60% of expectations. This affects not only the new Library, but also any and all new Residences, and all other building projects which are now waiting to go.

President MacKay was not available for comment, due to a Senate meeting, and a trip which will take up most of next week.

"Advertising might help," commented one student, "and I can't see that there is much being done. Living in Upper Canada, I haven't seen any advertising for UNB at all. In fact, it was only at the recommendation of a friend that I ever came to know about this place."

Within the next ten years, there will be a projected ten million dollars worth of building going on on this Campus: in fact, right now, we are supposed to be beset with builders, who are to lay foundations for MacKenzie House, which is to be a new part of the Residence complex.

Mr. Gordon in the standard accepted and expected form of address for a cabinet minister. Had I been less polite perhaps I might have been accused of over familiarity.

I greatly regret the spirit in which my telegrams was received. It was not as Mr. Thom says "an obviously political manoeuver designed to er barrass the present (federal) government." (as if a telegram from me could em-barrass the Government of Canada). That simple telegram was merely an honest and entirely polite attempt to have an unfortunate situation cured. The Hon. Walter Gordon, as our Minister of Finance, is interested in seeing that such situations do not occur and any help we are able to give as students is surely appreciated.

ED. COMMENT:

1. Mr. MacLean, you used other common telegraphic omissions in your message to Mr. Gordon, so we can only assume that as an afterthought you are hopping off your high-chair and hope to recover some form of dignity.

2. Obviously your letter is a political manoeuver. We assumed that it is not the Federal Government but the Quebec Government which is preventing Quebecers from taking part in the plan.

3. Are you president of the Privy Council Club?

4. Perhaps some of your efforts should be directed to- existed now.

So many people at UNB refer to Sally Freshette that many have forgotten from whence she came. So, as a public service to the new students . . . and those of the old students who may also need guidance issue. This column will be devoted to a plea to the freshettes. PLEASE don't get the FRESHETTE COMPLEX. This term is one coined by a disgruntled LBR man to describe what had happened to some of the UNB girls. Describing this condition is not a pleasant assignment . . . nor is it likely to win me many friends. But the freshettes should at least know something about the FRESH-ETTE COMPLEX... it's undisputedly the general opin-ion of every male up the hill.

. . . the Brunswickan prints this column from the September 23, 1960

Here is the picture: Little Sally Freshette leaves home to come to UNB. This is her first time away from home and Momma for any length of time; she breathes a sigh of relief as she finally gets the independence she has been craving for. Then poor Sally gets to Fredericton and Freshman Week. All of a sudden she finds herself the centre of a great deal of attention, most of it from males. Now Sally is a normal girl ... she likes male attention. But never before had she received so much ... and never before had she had enough freedom from parental re-straint to do much about it.

At any rate, as this situation continues, a little gremlin begins to creep into Sally's mind. She is being asked out on dates four or five nights a week... and going. The Gremlin begins to work and Sally commences to think that she must be a little more attractive than most girls. Here she is going to The Outpost for steaks three nights a week. Why, she must be really attractive and desirable! This is the beginning of the FRESHETTE COM-PLEX.

Around Christmas time comes the peak of Sally's popularity. She has been to the Fall Formal, the Bushman Ball, the LBR House Formal ... and every other major event of the first semester. Her ego is so expanded that a trivial little thing like low marks on her Christmas exams is dismissed with a shrug and a few curses directed towards her professors. So after a comparatively dull holiday telling lies to her momma, Sally gayly streams back into town for the next round.

But a curious thing has taken place, Sally, the girl who was telephoned every night, who asked what kind of car a fellow was driving before she refused to go to a party at his apartment... Sally finds herself getting fewer telephone calls. The fellows who had been telephoning her were now phoning places like the Nurse's Residence and boarding houses filled with the Teachers' College girls . . . Poor little Sally, she is no longer the center of attraction. All she has to do is sit in LDH and study... and who wants to do that! But that ever-present gremlin does not want Sally to fade from the picture quite that easily.

"Why not change my hair colour? If I do that and wear more striking clothes, I can again be the center of attraction.

So, as the spring comes around the corner ... so does Sally, bleached blonde wearing orange knee socks, a green leotard and a bermuda skirt. Sally is no longer the simple, unaffected girl she was when she first left momma. She is now forceful (brash), more attractive physically peroxide), and is free to go out with anyone who asks (if you can call steaks and all the trappings of a Sally-type date "free").

The final item in the decline and fall of Sally Freshette into the FRESHETTE COMPLEX is barely passing marks in May. It's not a very happy ending ... but then it's not a very happy story either. To put it briefly, Sally didn't stop to think that what she and the gremlin attributed to her own personal charm was mostly due to the male-female ratio at UNB. In fact,

Sally didn't stop at all ... That, co-eds, is a brief description of the FRESHETTE COMPLEX. It happened to only a few of our girls ... there are some very wonderful exceptions to Sally's tale. But there are so few girls here that it's a pity to see any more FRESHETTE COM-PLEXES develop in this year's crop of sweet young things "you would like to know". So, Freshettes, be careful... you can have a great time here at UNB ... but if you have to warp your personality to do it, it's not

DIEF, CHARLOTTE AND THE BABY PLAN

TORONTO (CUP) The Canadian Union of Students' congress at York University considered Sunday (Sept. 13) a proposal to further social intercourse in Canada.

A motion presented to the domestic affairs commission by Queen's and Ottawa suggested the plan could e achieved by an inter-regional baby plan.

It further suggested a committee of two be struck to study the problem from top to toe and stem to stern.

Opposition leader John Diefenbaker and Ottawa's volatile mayor Charlotte Whitton were proposed.

A speaker against the motion said he was opposed to the inter-regional baby plan because it obviously overlooked oral contraception.

The unidentified speaker concluded his remarks with, "My fellow Canadians."
