

OTTAWA JOURNAL, Saturday, November 26, 1921:

C200098

SOME POLITICAL OBSERVATIONS

By An Observer

. . . As usual Mr. King is straddling the fence - if the campaign were to continue much longer he would emerge bowlegged - waiting to climb down on either side at a convenient moment. Certainly if the Liberals had had their way we should not/have owned a ^{today} mile of railway in Canada apart from the National Transcontinental which cannot possibly pay its way for years to come. . . .