

Towards the field they mark
their course,
'Mid their shouts extreme and hoarse ;
See ! their bats and baseball
there,
Sharing in their lack of care ;
Wantonness and folly stored
In their souls—full pleasure poured.

Play away while limb is young,
Till your song of youth is sung;