cool. A small amount of soda—one-fourth teaspoonful to ten-quart kettle of water—when blanching peas will aid in retaining the green color.

Sifting Beans

Beans, like peas, should be picked when about two-thirds or three-quarters grown. They should be fresh and crisp, and should be canned as soon after picking as possible. Snap the beans, wash, blanch about 10 minutes if tender, 15 if a little tough. Cold dip, pack in jars either whole or cup up. Add one teaspoonful salt to each quart and fill with hot water. Adjust rubbers and covers, partially tighten. Process from 90 to 120 minutes according to condition. Remove jars, tighten covers and invert to cool.

Pumpkin and Squash

Recipe for Canning Pie Filling—Cut up into convenient sections. Core and remove skins. Cook for 30 minutes to reduce to pulp. Pack in glass jars. Add one cup of sugar and one teaspoonful of salt to each quart of pulp. Place rubber and top in position. Partly seal, but not tight. Sterilize 60 minutes in hot water bath outfit. Remove. Tighten covers. Invert to cool and test joints. Wrap in paper and store.

Cauliflower

Use the flowered portion. Blanch it three minutes. Plunge it into cold brine (one-half pound salt to 12 quarts of water). Allow the cauliflower to remain in this brine for 12 hours. Pack it in glass jars.

Sealing a packed and sterilized jar. Lids have been ground down.

Fill them with boiling water and add a level teaspoonful of salt per quart. Put the rubber and cap in position, not tight. Sterilize 45 minutes in hot water bath outfit. Putting cauliflower in brine prevents its turning pink.

The recipe for canning greens may be used with equal success in canning cabbage and Brussels sprouts.

One of The Guide readers writes that she has had great success in canning by using the Ideal steam cooker. She has a tin one with copper tank and uses it on the cook stove. She says she has canned all kinds of fruit and never lost one jar. She inverts the jars in the tank in cold water and they are sterilized very quickly. She says it saves the burns and the lifting in connection with the boiler.

RUN LIGHTNING INTO GROUND

Lightning will follow a wire fence. Stock are apt to stand in a fence corner or along the fence when it storms. If fence enough to the fence that has been struck by lightning a number of animals are likely to be killed. The lightning can be run from the fence into the ground by running a wire, No. 8 or No. 10 from each strand of the fence and into moist soil.

Near the buildings and where the stock stand a good deal, these ground wires should be closer together than on the fence along which the stock do not congregate so often.—N. D. Agricultural College.

W. P. Hinton, traffic manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific, has been appointed vice-president and general manager of that road, in place of Morley Donaldson. Mr. Hinton has had a long and very successful railway experience.
