

A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence—this only leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.

If your work is tiring; if your nerves are excited; if you feel languid, weary or depressed, you should know that Scott's Emulsion overcomes just such conditions.

It possesses in concentrated form the very elements to invigorate the blood, strengthen the tissues, nourish the nerves and build strength.

Scott's is strengthening thousands of mothers—and will help you. Try it.

The Black Sheep.

We called him the black sheep.
We sneered at his name;
We turned on our heels in disgust
When he came.

We refused him our doors,
We remembered old scores
That he hadn't paid up, and the numerous days
He had promised us all to seek out better ways,
And had broken his word. So our aid we refused.

For the help of his friends was a thing he abused.
But she wept for him, toiled for him,
All she had, gave him,
Prayed to God nightly for more strength to save him,
Held out her arms to him, went in the mire for him,
Served at his call and seemed Never to tire of him.

We called him the black sheep.
We done all we could;
Or that's what we thought, and we'd Him no good.
We'd cast him aside
As one lost to all pride,
And saw in him nothing but horrible weakness,
Serve to vice and craven in meekness.

We told ourselves often he'd meet a bad end
And deserted him, just as he gave up each friend.
But she watched for him, tenderly cared for him,
Went without comforts, that some might be spared for him,
Took his harsh words with a sigh at times, may be,
But never forgot that he had been her baby.

We called him the black sheep.
She called him her care.
Said 'twas her duty, his burdens To share.
Told us no other
Could know, as a mother,
The reason the feet of a child go astray.
Or bring back the wanderer to the right way.
She told of the days when the fever was raging,
The fall that had from the carpenter's staging;
And told that the doctors had said with good nursing

His strength might come back. She was ever reassuring.
Excuses for him. And at times when we pleaded
With her to give up she replied that he needed
Her help more than either his sister or brother.

The black sheep is never a black sheep to mother.

Value of No-License.

1. License hurts a town because it diverts money from legitimate channels to saloon keepers.

2. Because it robs the poor man's family of the necessities of life. The money is worse than wasted, and homes are deprived of the comforts of life.

3. It makes collections harder: leaves bad bills on the books; is an injustice to stockholders.

4. License harms even the liquor seller, and his family frequently experience sufferings in this world.

5. The liquor traffic buys less than 64 100 of 1 per cent. from the farmer.

The general results of no license are a great decrease in the matter of arrests for drunkenness in the community and increases in the bank deposits of laborers; fewer cases of wife abandonment and decrease in misery and criminality generally.

Bonforts Wine and Spirit Circular admits 'that the saloon has gone from many places to stay gone.'

The liquor traffic is scientifically wrong, diabolically wrong and morally wrong, because alcohol is a destructive drug and poison. What is scientifically wrong cannot be made morally right, and what is morally wrong cannot be made economically expedient or just.—Temperance Reform.

MINARI'S LINIMENT is the only Liniment asked for at my store and the only one we keep for sale. All the people use it.

HARLIN BULTON.
Pleasant Bay, C. B.

Be brave, O heart, and fear not earthly shame,
Cringe not to men, but make thyself a name.
Take up thy cross, and walk erect through life,
Fight for the truth, however fierce the strife.

Yield to no folly, crush thy tempting sin,
And heed no murmur of complaint within.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

A man saw an announcement in an ironmonger's shop the other day as follows: 'Iron Sinks; and he went in and told the man that he knew that iron sank.'

'Yes,' said the man, 'and time flies, and wine vaults, acid drops, sulphur springs, jam rolls, grass slopes, and music stands; Niagara falls, holiday trips and rubber tires.'

The customer bolted. Then he returned, put his head in the door and remarked: 'Yes, I know, and marble busts.'

A woman interested in charity work was accustomed each day to pass by the door of a Chinese laundry wherein were employed two Chinamen. Each time she passed the charity worker would stop for an instant and speak to the boys.

'Hello, John,' she would call out, to which salutation the Celestial would reply, 'Hello, lady.'

One day she saw only one Chinaman where there had been two, and she asked: 'Where is the other John?'

'His in hospital,' said the 'lady's man. 'Chinamen gentleman a lark him in the head with a stick.'

Uric Acid Suffering.

Uric acid is an accumulation of poison which finds lodgement in the system when the kidneys fail to remove it from the blood. In the kidneys and bladder it forms stones, in the joints and muscles it causes rheumatism. In any case the pain and suffering is almost beyond human endurance. Uric acid is promptly removed from the system when the kidneys are kept healthy and active by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Women to Make Shells.

Women will play an increasingly important part in supplying the huge demands of the British army for shells. At Vickers Sons and Maxim works 600 women hands employed in the manufacture of munitions have given such satisfaction that the firm has decided immediately to employ an additional thousand. Other firms are expected to follow this example.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Mrs. Jones bought a chicken at the family butcher shop, and after embelishing it with bread crumbs, celery, cranberry sauce and other glad things she proudly set it before the head of the family.

'What is the matter, John?' asked the young wife, with an anxious look as she laboriously carved the bird and began to apply it to his appetite.

'Isn't the chicken all right?'

'Why, yes; I guess he is all right, was the hesitating response. 'But I fear he was a very good roaster.'

'A great coward!' returned the perplexed wife, 'what do you mean?'

'Don't they say, Mary,' smilingly rejoined hubby, 'that the bravest are always the tenderest?'

To the People of Nova Scotia.

The splendid response which the people of Nova Scotia have made to the various appeals addressed to them since August last makes it unnecessary for me to dwell upon the necessity for everyone of us doing his full share to maintain the cause of the Empire at this time.

During the past week our hearts have been stirred with pride by the brilliant exploit of a gallant Canadian aviator who succeeded in destroying a giant Zepelin. His intrepid feat directs attention anew to the value of the aviation arm of the service and the pressing need for strengthening the air craft of the British Army which has already rendered such signal service to the Allied cause.

The Overseas Club, Halifax branch, of which I have the honor to be a patron, has, with the approval of Lord Kitchener, taken up the project of collecting funds in this Province with which to purchase and present a 100 H. P. Gnome Vickers Gun Biplane to the Royal Flying Corps to be named 'Nova Scotia.' This gift will require an expenditure of about $12,000.

Notwithstanding the numerous gifts so generously made by our people and the splendid work performed by the women of Nova Scotia for the Red Cross and Belgian Relief funds, I feel that attention has only to be called to the opportunity now presented by the Overseas Club to evoke the same hearty response which the people of Nova Scotia always make to an appeal for a worthy object.

In Halifax city Messrs. S. M. Brookfield, Robt. E. Harris, K. C. and Captain John Hicks are engaged in an active canvas for funds for the project. If the people of the Province take as keen an interest in the success of the fund as the citizens of Halifax promise to take, I feel assured that we shall have sufficient subscriptions to purchase not only one but perhaps even two aircraft.

I confidently ask the people of the Province to consider the matter of joining in this most appropriate gift. Those of us especially who are unable to go to the front or have no sons or brothers there, must find other means of doing our share at this time and the present opportunity is one which I am sure will appeal to all of us.

Contributions to the fund may be made to the manager of any Bank in the Province and may be of any amount. It must always be remembered that very often the smallest gift involves the greatest sacrifice.

JAMES D. MCGREGOR,
Government House, Halifax, N. S., 11th June, 1915.

Bad Cold in the Chest.

'I am happy to tell you that I used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and was promptly cured of a very bad cold in the chest,' writes Miss Josephine Gauthier, Dover South, Ont. 'You can depend on Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine to relieve and cure all inflammations and irritations of the throat and bronchial tubes.'

How Gas is Used by the Germans.

A great deal has appeared on the use of asphyxiating gases by the Germans. Many statements have been made as to exactly what gas is used, how it is used, and what are its effects.

There are two essentials to the use of gas by the Germans. First, the gas must be of such a character that it will stick close to the surface of the ground and sink into all trenches and excavations—not rise in the air. Secondly, it must at least, temporarily stupefy the intended victim. Now, this being the case, it is obvious that gas may be resorted to successfully under certain conditions only. There must be only a very moderate or light wind blowing, and that must be regular or even, otherwise the gas would become too disseminated and diluted with air. It can be used only when the enemy's trenches are but a short way off. The battlefield of the gas must be either a straight line or convex towards the enemy. Otherwise the gas, when liberated, would cross at least some portion of the users lines, with considerable damage to the users as well as to the intended victims.

Chlorine gas seems to fill all the requirements. It is a heavy greenish yellow, suffocating, irritating, poisonous gas. When liberated in a moderate wind (two to six miles per hour) it will travel pretty compactly along the surface of the ground filling the air for a depth of about three feet above the surface and sinking into all depressions. It suffocates and irritates the victim and produces acute bronchitis and strangulation. In many cases the effect is temporary but complete unconsciousness and in many cases death is caused. Its color gives it the properties of a cloud, which greatly conceals the advance of the enemy, who follow closely behind whenever possible. Needless to say, great quantities are required to be of real effect against a battalion of considerable length. So it is used chiefly to attack certain selected points in the enemy's lines, with the sole idea of forcing a passage which might enable the breaking up and flanking movements so frequently attempted but never accomplished.

The Germans manufacture this treacherous gas in great quantities and force it into small cylinders under very high compression. These cylinders are shipped to the trenches, put in place, and when conditions are favorable, are opened and turned toward the lines of the allies. The prevailing wind does the rest.

Quite a number of other gases could be used almost equally as well, but the symptoms all clearly and unmistakably indicate the use of chlorine gas by the Germans army in all cases so far.

"What's flour gluten, Bud?"
"It's what makes your dough rise, Rose."
"Yes"—she encouraged.
"Added Bud very sagely:
"Makes it rise in the mixer and expand in the oven. It's the elastic part of flour—absorbs all the water and milk—and things."
"Rose grew interested.
"FIVE ROSES, said Bud, is exceedingly rich in gluten. I s'pose because it's all made from Manitoba wheat. Takes up a lot more water—makes those fat loaves—lasts longer too."
"Saves money, doesn't it?" asked Rose.
"Bud in a big voice

And Rose said YES.
