Condemns Gambling as Getting Money by Dishonest Means,

London, Ont., June 15 .- Endorsation of the three-fifths clause and of compensation for hotelmen put out of business with a strong condemnation of the betting evil, were features of the charge delivered by Bishop Williams this afterneon to the Synod of Huron, in session here. The Bishop made himself particularly clear in his references to gambling. Betting and gambling, however widely practised and however called, are morally wrong and degrading to charmonic to the synonymetric content of the synonymetric con widely practised and however called, are morally wrong and degrading to char-acter," he said. "We need a public op-inion sufficiently strong to brand with infamy the betting man or the betting woman as a parasite who thrives upon other people's labor. There is injustice in it; there is robbery, no matter by what name we call it, and, therefore, it is

THE THREE-FIFTHS CLAUSE.

THE THREE-FIFTHS CLAUSE.

Regarding the three-fifths clause his Lordship said: "The principle is altogether right. The proper function of the civil law is to record and enforce the judgments of the popular conscience. There are some things which the popular conscience overwhelmingly condemns, i.e., fraud, bigamy, white slavery, etc. There is no difficulty in enforcing laws against such offences. But there are other things which the popular conscience does not so overwhelmingly condemn, and when laws are passed by a bare majority against such offences they are citter not enforced or enforced very feebly for the simple reason that there is a large body of public opinion which does not believe that the aings prohibited are morally wrong. The result of hasty legislation on such epinion which does not believe that the unings prohibited are morally wrong. The result of hasty legislation on such subjects is demoralizing to the com-munity, as Bishop Wescott says: "So far as it is effective, without the intelli-gent support of public opinion, it im-pairs, if it does not destroy, moral value of the action which it controls. So far as it is ineffective, it injures the general respect for law.

FOR EFFECTIVE ENFORCEMENT.

"The experience of the Scott act is an illustration of the point. Therefore, it is extremely unwise to try to secure legislation on any subjects on which there is a great diversity of views which there is a great diversity of views as to the right and wrong of them, before there is a large and preponderant body of public opinion formed, which will secure the effective enforcement of the law. To secure this large body of public opinion I take to be the meaning of the three-fifths vote. It may seem to eager advocates to delay the advent of their ideal, but it is the surer way, and will not have the demoralizing effects which are apt to follow, and did follow, the adoption of the law by a bare majority."

CONCERNING COMPENSATION. On compensation he said: "But granting that the community has a perfect right to limit or suppress any business or trade which it deems to be injurious to its best interests, there are nevertheless certain moral obligations which the community is bound to observe when limiting or suppressing what is by its own laws a legitimate business. There is a question of justice involved which present metheds of suppression do not fulfill. When men have invested money in good faith in a business which is protected by law like any other business; to pass a law which makes the investment all but a total loss is to break faith and is practical confiscation. The process is un-British, to say the least and really unjust. The British way is the best, and the British way is the best, and the British way is for the State to make compensation to private individuals when it suppresses by law a legitimate trade. The abolition of slavery is a case in point. Slavery was a legitimate system, tolerated and protected by law, and when the State abolished the system it made compensation to the slave-owners to the extent of $100,000,000. The recent British proposal to limit the liquor traffic, I think, proceeded upon the same On compensation he said: "But granting that the community has a to the extent of $100,000,000. The recent British proposal to limit the liquor traffic, I think, proceeded upon the same lines, which appear essentially fair and just, while abolition without compensation is the reverse. If, as a community, we have made a mistake in legalizing say business, which maturer judgment and experience prove to be detrimental to our best interest, let us, as a community, bear the penalty of our mismunity, bear the penalty of our mis-takes. It is not just to visit it entirely upon those who invested their money in the business under our sanction.

Solemn Statement of a Well-Known Newark Merchant Establishes That Sciatica Can be Cured Quickly.

Cured Quickly.

It was four years ago I first was attacked by sciatica. The pains came and went, and at first were not seves. I took no precautions against relapse and the conditions grew permanent. Seves grinding pains like points of steel being forced through my flesh, affected my left side. I became almost a cripple, and on a damp or stormy day was atraid to leave the house.

"NEBVILINE" was recommended and I rubbed on lots of it. In a week I improved, and by persevering with the NevTiline rubbing and taking it every night, twenty drops in hot sweetened water, I finally got the disease under control. In eight weeks I was cured. I have never since felt a twinge or an anhe, and for those affected with Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, or any other muscular ailment, I can conscientiously recommend "NEEVI-LINE."

For fifty years Nerviline has been a static from its winter huster shared such as the approach water in the spring. The drowning or any other muscular ailment, I can conscientiously recommend "NEEVI-LINE."

simply talking to make a hero out of himself.

However, developments have made it desirable that the case should be reopened in order to get a chance to examine the husband again, as he refused to submit to it in the ordinary way. As a result Hornfeck was arrested, at least that is the way his arrest is regarded here, as his employer swears he has not been off his farm, sixteen miles out, since last February. Hornfeck is undoubtedly insane, and has recently attempted suicide.

The preliminary hearing was opened this afternoon, and James was put in the box as the first witness. He was sub-

For a week he attended me constantly, but I grew weaker and sicker every day. The pains in my back, the blinding headaches, the awful weakness from which I suffered almost killed me—the doctor saw it was hopeless.

Brockville, June 15 .- The paddle wheels of the steamer Kingston, on pulling out from the waterworks dock this morning, brought to the top the body of an unknown man, which from its winter attire must have been in the water since last fall or early in the spring. The drowning was probably suicide, as the pockets of a small overcoat and sack coat were loaded with stones and bricks. A post-mortem was held and no marks of violence were found.

Socialist Thorne Caused Excitement in British Commons.

London, June 15.-William James Thorne, Socialist member for West Ham, got up quite an excitement in the House got up quite an excitement in the House of Commons this afternoon by a denunciation of the Emperor of Russia in connection with that Sovereign's proposed visit to King Edward during the Cowes regatta. Mr. Thorne, in the guise of a question to Foreign Secretary Grey, declared that there was intense feeling in this country against the visit. The Speaker called Mr. Thorne to order, but the member would not be quieted, and shouted out: "It will be a good job if the Russian Emperor gets his desserts when he does come; he is an inhuman brute."

The Speaker's efforts to stem this plane Dashed to Ground.

Berwyn, Neb., June 15.— An amateur aviator, U. Sorenson, a blacksmith, in view of several hundred townsmen, to-day made an ascent in a balloon, and then attempted a descent in at a constructed after several months labor. When he cut the aeroplane loose he found the rudder had worked loose, and the was unable to guide the machine. It began to descend at a terrific speed, turning over and over as it dropped. The inventor clung to the craft, and when it struck the ground he was in a sitting position.

The aeroplane was demolished, but Sorenson, although knocked senseless, and sustaining numerous bruises, was soon revived, not seriously worse off for his experience.

The Speaker's efforts to stem this abuse were quite ineffectual until an uproar of protests from the other members drowned Mr. Thorne's invective.
