CHAPTER II.

To the Gentlemen of P. E. Island, Greeting:

IME and Tide wait for no man, and in order to keep page with time, we must travel of railroad speed if we expect to posses ourselves of the tide there is in our affairs. Time passes very slow with the youthful mind. But with the middle aged man, how swift! Swifter than a weavers shuttle, we are told. Yes, gentlemen, the world is growing wiser and weaker—wesker in superstition and idolatry—wiser in training up the mind to perfect manhood—keeping all our appetites and passions under subjection—clothin a the body with the finest, the state of the contraction of the NEW YO RESCULVIBING.
