

Poetry.

Original. HYMN TO THE FLOWERS.

Floral Apostles! that in dewy splendour... Weep without love, and blush without a crime...

"Thou wast not, Solomon! in all thy glory... Arroyed," the lilies cry, "in robes like ours...

In the sweet-voiced picture, heavenly Art!... With which thou paintest nature's wide-arched hall...

Not useless are ye, flowers, though made for pleasure... Blooming 'er field and ways, by day and by night...

Ephemeral signs! what intruders hoary... For such a world of thought could furnish scope!

Poisonous glories! angel-like collection!... Unseen from seed or bulb, interred in earth...

Were I, oh God! in cherubon lands remaining... Far from all voices of teachers and divines...

[From the Bermuda Royal Gazette.] THE ROYAL HIGHLANDERS, WELCOME TO SCOTLAND.

What means that busy joyous hum... That makes each one look back and brow...

To welcome those they glory in... To welcome those they glory in...

Food Mothers' hearts with hopes best high... To embrace again her coat so loved...

For never yet in dashed fight... Ere failed or quailed the Forty-two...

West may each Scottish heart delight... In the guardians of their land and law...

Where there have gallant deeds been done... By the hand that to the World gives law...

Thrice welcome to their native coast... Are their many forms so bold and brave...

To Scotland and her Forty-two. Hamilton, July 9, 1851.
