Men of Frontier Force Were Well Fed, Eggs, Pies, Fruit, Etc., Being on the Bill-of-Fare

Officer Admits He Hired His Horse at $20 a Day to the Force—Enquiry May Take a Long Time As Witnesses Are Examined Carefully.

The enquiry into the 19th regiment's finances during the time the unit was on guard duty on the Welland canal and frontier, which was opened yesterday at the Armories, is proceeding with all the speed allowable consistent with a thorough investigation which will bring out all the facts.

Three sessions were held yesterday, morning, afternoon and evening. The court is composed of: President, General E. A. Cruikshank, director of Historical Section, Military Headquarters; Members, Lt.-Col. W. P. Elkins, D.S.O., and Bar R.C.H. Kingston; Lt.-Col. N. M. Young, E.P., attached to Headquarters Military District No. 2; Major W. H. Wither, Canadian Army Pay Corps. It is believed the enquiry will take some considerable time as each witness is closely questioned by the different members of the court.

At yesterday afternoon's session the first witness was Colonel Forbes, assistant director of the pay service for the Military District No. 2. Colonel Forbes reviewed the provisions for paying the Protective Forces from August, 1914, when established, to 1917. He said that in the first stages of the war he had to simply take the word of the Officer commanding units as to the strength of the forces under his command, and for which pay was drawn. There were no command pay musters held and no instructions had been issued to pay officers to hold muster books.

Cheques for pay and allowances were paid directly to the Commanding Officer of the unit, as Colonel Forbes did not know there was a paymaster. No pay musters, he said, were held in the Protective Forces, inclusive of the C.E.F. till 1917.

Col Forbes identified a number of cheques which he had issued to Col. Raleigh for pay and allowances to the men. Some were for seven and eight thousand dollars each. Lieut. Richard S. Greenwood, who was on the canal force from the beginning of the war, holding the position of quartermaster was called.

He received money from paymaster M. Phelps, daughter of Mr. Judson Phelps, and the late Mrs. Phelps, with learn with deep regret of her death which took place on Tuesday afternoon at the home of her father, in Merriton (her birth place) after a few days illness.

Miss Phelps was a well known lecturer on popular subjects, and spent many years in temperance and social service work, of which she was a fearless and forceful advocate. She was in great demand especially in the United States, and has lectured repeatedly in almost every state in the Union. Her death is a great loss to the cause of righteousness and justice. She was a graduate of Philadelphia School of Oratory, where she fitted herself for her life work which has been interrupted by her untimely death.

She travelled extensively, having crossed the ocean twice, visiting nearly every country in Europe. An attractive personality, a keen sense of humor, combined with ready wit made her a welcome visitor, and she will be missed by a large number of personal friends. She is survived by her father and brother Mr. Chester Phelps, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., who have the sincere sympathy of many friends.

Guelph Radial Railway receipts increased $16,000 in 1919 over those of 1918.

Millions of Words of Evidence Will Be Taken in Connection With the 19th Investigation

If the military enquiry here into the finances of the 19th Lincoln regiment while it was doing guard duty on the Welland canal and frontier, during the war, continues for several weeks, as it is believed it will, millions of words of evidence will be taken down in shorthand and transcribed.

The court is keeping three of the best stenographers in Canada busy either taking evidence or typewriting. They work in relays and after each witness has given his evidence, the stenographer must read over the evidence so that he can certify that every word of it is correct. This consumes a great deal of time, in fact it takes as long to read over the evidence as to examine the witnesses.

A large number of witnesses will be examined before the court closes its sessions. These are mostly officers who served on the protective force at one time or another. One was called back from Vancouver, another from Montreal. Some of these officers afterwards served overseas.

One thing that blocks a full disclosure of all the facts, was the death in battle of Captain A. Frank McKinley, who acted as paymaster of the 19th up to the time he went overseas with the 81st Battalion. He was one of the finest young men Canada sent to the front and his friends here know absolutely that he could not have been capable of a dishonorable act.

The absence of bills, receipts, etc., for monies expended, makes it further difficult, but General E. A. Cruikshank, president of the court, is doing the very best he can to probe the facts.

Handwriting experts will give evidence, likewise banking experts, and everything will be done to get at the truth.

When the court has completed its work it will make a report to the militia department, and may possibly make recommendations.

Strenuous opposition to the proposed Carpenter, Dewdney boat has arisen in many parts of the United States.

Gallant Bandit Tries To Revive Girl While Pals Take Much Loot

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Chivalry is not entirely dead among the banditti of Chicago, but it is not permitted to interfere with business to any serious extent. The leader of a gang of robbers that today held up and looted Otto Neadard's jewelry store of $10,000 worth of property, found time to revive and comfort a fainting lady, but his gang knocked her brother on the head and went about the business in hand without interruption.

Then, by way of a farewell, they gayly shot Neadard from the closed car, just as they started away, wounding him in the arm.

Three of the bandits entered the store where Neadard and his sisters, Blanche and Ella were assisting him in sales. They flashed pistols in the faces of the three and ordered them to throw up their hands and back into a closet.

"Go ahead and shoot," shouted Neadard, "I've been held up so often and lost so much that I would just as soon you would shoot."

Smash went the butt of a heavy pistol over his head and he sank to the floor. Blanche, his younger sister, screamed and fell to the floor in a faint. By all rules of Chicago thugdom the robbers should have kicked her aside, but the leader hastened to a faucet and secured cold water with which he bathed her temples, meanwhile assuring her that no harm would come to her. However, his companions went strictly about the business of cleaning out the safe and show cases. It is believed the same gang recently robbed Neadard's store of $5,000 worth of goods.

NIAGARA FALLS, Jan. 14.—A committee of city policemen called on the city manager, E. J. Fart, at the latter's office Monday afternoon and made formal application for an increase in pay.

BASEL, Jan. 14.—Many persons were killed or wounded in Berlin today when the troops fired upon or bayoneted demonstrators who tried to rush the reichstag entrances in protest against the exploitation law, says a dispatch from Berlin.

The dispatch adds that since noon crowds have paraded the streets of Berlin, following an appeal from Die Freiheit, the radical Socialist organ, for workmen to demonstrate in protest against the law.

Up to 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon public order had not been restored in connection with the demonstrations before the reichstag. Big processions passed along the streets from all quarters. Numerous factories were obliged to close.

The demonstrators bore flags inscribed, "We demand an unrestricted worker's councils bill." Numerous speeches were delivered from the steps of the reichstag sharply protesting against the bill in its present form. The street car service was partly suspended, the men being on strike.

The public security police restricted themselves to guarding the reichstag with strong forces.

Canon Broughall Speaks at Hamilton Forward Movement

The Hamilton Times has the following about an address given by Rev. Canon Broughall:

A very interesting service was held in All Saints' in the interest of the Inter Church Forward Movement on Sunday morning. Canon Broughall, of St. Catharines, was the preacher. Ven. Archdeacon Forrester taking Canon Broughall's service in St. Catharines. Canon Broughall is a very forceful speaker and in able, well chosen words, delivered his message to the congregation:

"I do not intend to take a text," he began, "but will endeavor to give you my views and the views of the Church of England on this Inter-Church Forward Movement. We are tremendously easily satisfied with our selves, because the Church of England has weathered many a storm, both here and in the Motherland. We should not be satisfied; now is the time, when the shadow of war has passed over the sun shines again on a world at peace—the peace is, at last signed, thank the Lord—now is the time to follow the Master's teaching, 'Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every living creature.'" "The appeal," said Canon Broughall, "was needed at any time, but it is particularly needed now. We were all patriots before and throughout the war, willing to do our bit at any time, in any capacity—and who were more willing to assist than the Anglicans? It was quite right that we should have answered the King's call, and taken up arms in a cause we believed right, and gone to fight for that cause in foreign lands beyond the seas, but will we respond to our King of kings call to arms? What are you and I going to do? Such was the challenge he threw out to the congregation.

The financial end of the mission work of the Church of England in Canada, has been until just recently attended to by the Mother Church in England, the people were told. However, a conference was held and the Canadian church decided to take its own money burden upon itself, for the mission in the great Northwest.

"The work in the West is tremendous," declared Canon Broughall, "because of the enormous number of aliens out there, without a church and without hope of eternal blessing. People, it is a great cry for help, let us respond. Missionaries are needed; doctors and nurses; can you imagine a man and family living on $600 or $700 a year in these times? No, no, you say, surely not so bad as that. But yes, it is true; terrible, but it is true. We need money, money, both for preachers' salaries and pensions for the old retired servants of the Lord. But more money will not save them," he concluded, "the gospel must be sent to them, preached to them, in such a way that they will believe, and be convinced. Think over this Movement, pray over it, and when the time comes, be ready to 'measure up.'"
