atning our Children's Confidence

Few mothers really think what a grave error they are committing in repelling the confidence of their little ones. The time may come, all too soon, when the. children who are thus repelled, will re fuse to have confidence in mamma, when she would give all she holds dear in the world to gain it. Children must have somebody to talk to and confide in, and f mother does not have time to listen to them, is it any more than natural that they will seek a confident elsewhere? And who knows what wrong and harn-And who knows what wrong and harnful counsel and advice that person may give your boy or girl? You may say, perhaps, that your boy or girl never cared to confide in you; they always preferred outside confidants. If so, mothers, whose fault is it? A mother is her child's natural confidant, just as much as she is her child's natural protector. And if her child turns from her to seek counsel from others, then in nine cases counsel from others, then in nine cases out of ten, the mother must have woe-fully failed in her duty.

In their baby days mamma is always ready with her sympathy, when they come to her with their little grievances or troubles. If she is always ready to point out the right way to the small! lads and lasses, to listen to the why and wherefore of each mistake, failure or success, if she is always a ready and will-ing sharer of all their little secrets, then her children will always consider her what she should be, the very best confi-dant they could have in the world. And the child who confides in mother all his or her secrets, whether they be great or small, is safe. For what boy er girl can go astray when they have nothing hid from mamma.—American Agriculturist for May.

A Toboggan Cap.

I didn't some to tell about the slide, but how to make a toboggan cap. They are prettiest made of double zephyr worsted although it is not uncommon to use the cheaper wool. If made of the latter one and a half skeins are sufficient. Use a pair of slender wooden, rubber or ivory needles. Cast on eighty-one stitches and knit back and forth (garter stitch) until the width measures four and a half fingers. Then bind it off, sew ends together neatly and draw up the opening at the top. Cover the drawn part with large, full pempone (three or five according to taste), made by winding needlefulls of the doubled wool over double rings of pasteboard, then cut the rings themselves and remove them. With a pair of sharp scissors shave the balls until they are as smooth as velvet. The prettiest cap I have seen required six ounces of double zephyr, and ninety stitches were cast on the needle instead of eighty one. Of course, the size of the head is to be con-
