Boat Club Dance.

The Dance held last night by the C. C.C. Boat Club in the C.C.C. Hall, was a most enjoyable affair. The music was provided by the C.C.C. Band under Capt. A. Bulley, and was excellent, all the latest dance airs being played in the splendid manner for which the Band is noted. Several sallors from U.S.S. Breckinridge put in appearance during the evening and whilst the supduring the evening and whilst the sup-per interval was on greatly entertain-ed those present with impromptu rend-erings of the latest American "Rags." A yery fine supper was provided by the lady friends of the Boat Club and with the exception of the interval, for this, dancing continued from 9 p.m. to 2.30 a.m. when the National Anthem brought the affair to a close.

THE GOLFER AND HIS CADDIE. It was a little caddle boy one pleasant summer day who drew a well known business man to bear his clubs away,

And oh, the little lad was proud to think that through the game He'd be a partner of a man so widely known to fame.

The man was noted in the press, and The man was noted in the season many a tiny Tim

Would dream the pleasant dreams of youth when he would be like him.

And likewise did this caddie boy who withought from him he'd learn The way to make a great success when it should come his turn.

The business man was off his game, The business man was off his game, it grieves me sore to say.

He was not honest with himself nor with the boy that day;

He nagged and cursed the little chap until his heart was sad,

And roundly blamed him every time a shot he made was bad.

He did not truly count his score, nor fairly play the game.

The boy discovered he was false, despite his business fame.

And when the boy got home that night, he said in manner grim:

"I hope when I grow up I won't be anything like him."

Oh man, if you would know yourself and get an' honest view.
Go out and learn just what it is your caddle thinks of you.
The sign of shame is on your brow, to atay forevermore,

If you're the kind of man the boys don't want to caddle for.

on this time a great educational paign was begun in Madras, led the Women's Indian Association, meetings in the Georgetown discrete specially enthusiastic, the sen there not considering the vote them that wanting to be allowed for the Legislative Councils. woman even suggested that if the lution did not get through the mail the women of Madras should rediately start militant methods; the provincial districts also sevineetings were held and resolutions passed asking that the sex distinction should be removed and s passed asking that the sex dis-lification should be removed and Krishnan Nair resolution passed: etter was sent by the W.I.A., sign-by representative women, to all the und members asking them to supmell members asking them to sup-the resolution and also various matters were arranged to meet the mbers of the Cabinet. The first was to the Hon. Mr. K. Srinivasa mgar, Minister for Law. After the Hon. Rao Bahadur K. Ven-ta Reddi Naidu, Minister for De-onment, and later the other two a Reddi Naidu, Miuster for De-opment, and later the other two insters also received a deputation. I was interesting to notice the dif-ence in the reception of our deputa-ins here from the way the Suffrage mutations were received in England retations were received in England.

ere hordes of police came out to rent the women approaching the lister and the women were arrestand thrown into prison. Here, in the, everything was done to make ia, everything was done to make easy for the members of the de-ation, the Ministers receiving us th the utmost courtesy and earnestsking questions to gain the wo-ns point of view. After the busi-g of the deputation, refreshments offered to the members! We olitan Club, which is the chief club in Madras, where reside w of the Council members. We in there and met many of the mem-n of the Legislative Council and asked us questions and present-their difficulties. We had a long most interesting and instructive versation. Private members, of me, were also interviewed and ed to support the resolution when ame up. I wrote a short pamphlet hodying all the anti-suffrage argumember, and it was interest visit the Council Chamber to this little brief pamphlet every-re in the House, and members sitin the Chamber reading it! We did not find very much serious mosition. There was a great deal of est shown, especially as it is a thing for women in modern times forward and definitely take an part in asking for some reform on the day of the debate a large on the day of the debate a large on the debate and the specific hamber. Two galleries in the strength of the Council the use of women only. The debate of two hours and a half, and most relight the council of the council of the debate of the council of the counci ellent speeches were delivered.

It is a splendid victory for Madras men and we are very proud of our manual manual we are very proud of our manual rage to women. There is very litopposition here in India to women ing anything if they really want rms needed; but if once a woman of course, there are customs and sjudices to be overcome and many thing is done. I do not think that men of India will oppose any dethe suffrage to women during the suffrage to women during the suffrage to women during the tweather session at Poons. The Relation was brought up a short time to In Bombay, but a clause was in to in Bombay; but a clause was in-oduced asking that women should be essistive Councillors. But as the puncils have no power to do this, the
