Despicable Tactics of the Opposition Organ.

In yesterday's issue of the Evening Advocate a futile attempt was made to undermine the confidence which the public showed in the Prime Minister in such an unmistakable manner at the polls, and to insinuate that he was not the moving spirit of the Party and the Leader in fact as well as in name.

Whatever effect the Advocate formerly possessed to influence the public was completely destroyed by its own actions during the recent campaign, and before any reliance will be again placed in its utterances, the indications that the severe lesson which it was taught have caused it to reform will have to be more apparent than they are at present.

For the moment it is sufficient to say that the man who lead the party to victory against the Hickman-Coaker combine, who showed in such an unmistakable manner the qualities of leadership and fearlessness in carrying the fight to the Coakerites in their own stronghold, and in administering a defeat that will ever be remembered, is not of the type who shirk responsibilities or share their command with anyone. The occasion found the man and the country relies implicitly upon the integrity of Walter S. Monroe and upon his ability to make full and proper use of the opportunity afforded him.

We take this opportunity to remind the Advocate that not long since it was compelled, reluctantly, we admit, to retract a statement which it made to the effect that the Editorials in the Evening Telegram were written by a gentleman who was not connected in any way with the journalistic staff of the office. It repeats the statement in yesterday's issue, and it gives us much pleasure to categorize the assertion as a deliberate falsehood and altogether in keeping with the policy of mendacity which it adopted during the campaign, and which caused even the most credulous of its supporters to disassociate themselves from it.

The tone adopted by the Advocate since the elections makes it obvious that the welfare of the country is only a secondary consideration as compared with its own selfish interests. Already there is every indication that the confidence of the outside world has been regained with the return to power of a stable Government. On all sides there is a brighter outlook in our industries, business firms have taken on a new lease of life, and the future gives every promise of a return of prosperity. This does not appear to appeal in the least to our opponents, who in their chagrin because of their defeat resort to the most despicable tactics in the hope of embarrassing the Government.

Their efforts, however, are a useless expenditure of energy which might be better employed. The country to-day is even more solidly behind Monroe and his Party than it was on June 2nd, and with that support and the mandate received from the people, the Government intend to carry out to the letter the programme laid down, no matter how disagreeable the effect may be to the malcontents and their parasites.

The Belvedere Garden Party takes place this afternoon. The energetic committee have everything in readiness to make the annual event an unprecedented success, and with a splendid day of sunshine all that is now required is a record crowd to patronize the affair, to give of their mite and help along a very worthy cause—the orphans. At night a dance will be held under the supervision of Mrs. Harry Pedigrew, the music for which will be supplied by the C.C.C. Orchestra.

St. Michael's Garden Party Committee Meeting

A meeting of the men and women of St. Michael's Parish was held last night in the Lecture Room of the church. Business was the election of men for the various committees. The chairman, Mr. Pope, reports everything running well, but there is still a lot of work for more men. A splendid Sports program will be arranged by Mr. W. Snow and his assistants. Another meeting will be held on Tuesday next, in the Lecture Room, at 7.30 p.m.

S. P. A. Garden Party

A GREAT SUCCESS.
 The Garden Party and Sale of Food, held yesterday at the residence of His Honor Mayor Cook, in aid of the S.P.A. was most successful. There was a large attendance and all spent a most enjoyable evening. The tables were well supplied and when closing time came very little remained undisposed of. Delicious afternoon teas, and the sale of tickets for the wheel of fortune greatly augmented the finances. The Mount Cashel Band was in attendance and rendered delightful selections throughout the afternoon.

OUR PRESCRIPTION DEPT.
 There is no profession or occupation, excepting that perhaps of a doctor, where knowledge, skill and experience count for more than they do in that of the compounding Pharmacist. Therefore we wish to keep before you the fact our Prescription Department is exceptionally well appointed for this kind of work and under no circumstances is an inexperienced person allowed to put up a Prescription. We keep only the purest of drugs and the most exacting care is exercised dispensing.

LADY RECEIVES FALL.—An aged woman named Mrs. Pendergast, who lives at 57 Queen's Road, injured her back while alighting from a street car near her home yesterday, and had to receive the attention of a doctor. The old lady suffered great pain and will be confined to her room for several weeks.

Violent Assault by Escaped Lunatic

On Thursday evening last, at male patient of the Lunatic Asylum escaped, and made his way home towards New Arm, Halibour, arriving there Friday morning. At that place a 3 year old boy named Kelly, attracted his attention. The lunatic, so it is stated, badly maltreated the child, seizing him by the stomach in his powerful grasp, he attempted to disembowel him. He then took the child by the arm and smashed the limb. The authorities were notified of the lunatic's escape and Constable Constable Grouchy rounded him up and brought him back to the institution. The child will recover from his injuries.

PEPYS BEHIND THE SCENES.

June 17th.—A fair day, albeit not very warm in the morning. Most of the day at the office, being put to some trouble to decipher my income tax forms, and indeed the greatest hardship that the Government should make a man pay his tax, and with it cause him to solve a problem of mixed hieroglyphics and higher mathematics. To the Board of Trade, and hear some good discourse of Mr. Edgar of the Wembley Exhibition, which indeed, I would myself see were it not that my wife would deprive herself of none of those unnecessary role-rols which I must pay for daily. Mr. T. Ashbourne coming in, I to congratulate him on his election to the House, where he will sit in Opposition. So home, and with my wife to the Garden Party at the Mayor's place, and the greatest crowd there that ever I did see, all merry. So to partake of a dish of tea, and then to Povey's and to discourse of divers public affairs over a bottle of good beer. He talks of Haig's coming, and the programme for the week he will be here mighty varied. On July 1st the Memorial will be unveiled, and on the following day there will be a review of troops, Brigades, and Guides. Both afterwards will be given up to sport. Among others, Mr. Victor Gordon, the new High Commissioner, comes for the ceremonies, but Mr. Kipling will not be here.

Ethel Clayton in Brilliant Role

ALL SHOULD SEE "CAN A WOMAN LOVE TWICE."
 Radiantly beautiful and brilliantly capable in a role that gives her full play for her exceptional ability to register emotion, Ethel Clayton again adds to her claim for a foremost place in the movie hall of fame through her work in "Can a Woman Love Twice?" her second starring vehicle for Film Booking Offices which was screened in this city at the Nickel Theatre yesterday.

As a cabaret entertainer forced to work as such to support herself and her little son, Miss Clayton is enabled to show pictorially the struggle of a good, clean girl against an environment from which her whole being shrinks. Her emotional transitions, from portraying the cabaret girl with a song on her lips and an ache in her heart to delineating the character of a young mother fighting for the future of her child, are some of the finest bits of emotional acting ever seen in the screen.

To detail the story in this review would spoil many of its surprising twists. Suffice it to say that it's a picture that no one who loves excellent dramatic entertainment can afford to miss.

Miss Marjorie Hutchings, the city's talented Contralto delighted her hearers last night by her beautiful and well rendered selections. To-night she will be heard in a repetition of yesterday's programme.

Ambrose Small's Will Probated

THE ESTATE IS WORTH OVER TWO MILLION DOLLARS.
 TORONTO, June 13.—The will of Ambrose J. Small, which a consent judgment fixes as the legal will of the missing millionaire, was to-day admitted for probate in the Surrogate Court at the City Hall by Judge Costworth.

The document, dated September 6, 1918, as filed a year and a half ago contains an inventory showing the estate amounts to $1,087,031. This did not include other amounts credited to the estate, close upon a million dollars being in dispute.

A bond of $250,000 has been filed to secure the balance of succession duty. By the consent judgment a sum of money was to be paid into court for the maintenance of Misses Florence and Gertrude Small, sisters of A. J. Small.

"The Cowboy and The Lady"

STAR MOVIE TO-DAY.

The music loving people of the city, as well as the thousands of patrons of the popular Star, will learn with regret the departure yesterday of the talented Hawaiians, who have been filling a most successful engagement at this theatre, and in learning of this we feel sure they will have the sincere sympathy of all. A telegram received on Monday evening contained the sad news of the death of their father, with the result that they left by yesterday's express for New York City, to attend the burial of their beloved parent. It was indeed a sad case for them as they were so well admired both socially and professionally and as stated they will have the heartfelt sympathy of all.

The show to-night is a most appropriate programme, with Mary Miles Minter in the feature picture, and funny Jimmy Aubrey producing the laughs at the rate of one a second in his comedy "Mates and Models." The management wishes to draw the attention of their patrons to the change in the admission price, from now on it being twenty cents.

Tunnel to Link England and France

WILL MAKE PARIS A SUBURB OF LONDON.

By MILTON BRONNER.

London.—Just so soon as the British premier, parliament and war department sanction it, work will be started on the greatest engineering enterprise since American genius connected the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans at Panama—the construction of a 36-mile tunnel under the sea, to connect England with the continent of Europe. It will be the greatest tunnel in the world—far longer than those through the Alps and the Andes and in underwater extent making the Hudson tubes in New York look like toys. It has been the dream of engineers, railway men and financiers for nearly a hundred years and the dream has always been blocked by British fears of military invasion.

Sir Wm. Bull, a veteran member of parliament, a distinguished lawyer and chairman of the parliamentary commission on the Channel Tunnel, is urging upon Premier MacDonald that the present government smooth the way for the tunnel project. I asked him to tell me all about it.

"It looks," said he, "as if nature had specially prepared things to make it easy for man to build the tunnel and to build it at the points where the distance between England and France is the least. That point is between Dover on our side of the English Channel and Sangatte near Calais on the French side. The tunnel would be 36 miles in length, of which 24 miles would be under the sea."

"General Foch estimated that had this tunnel been in existence, the war would have been brought to a conclusion in our favor two years earlier, due to the facilities for unimpeded transport of troops, munitions and supplies. One of the main objections to the tunnel in the past has been that it might serve as a means of invading England. But this tunnel would be so constructed that in time of war, by pressing a button in Dover or in London, the tunnel could be flooded in a small section near the Kentish coast, forming an effective water lock. This dip in the tunnel would fill up with water in a few hours."

"It has been asked whether a submarine or an airplane of a hostile country could not destroy the tunnel by dropping a heavy bomb on the bottom of the channel in the line of the tunnel. But our engineers do not think this is possible. Not only would the tunnel have 180 feet of salt water about it, but it would be 130 feet below the bed of the sea."

"From borings that have been taken at frequent intervals, we know exactly the geological composition of the strata in which the work would have to be done. Below the sea there is a bed of chalk. Below that is a bed of chalk marl which lies upon gault clay. The chalk marl is 60 feet in thickness, is of such nature as to be virtually impervious to the percolation of water. For that reason, it lends itself admirably as the most suitable material through which the tunnel would be driven. We could do without steel or iron work, the tunnel being lifted with reinforced concrete."

"It is really proposed to build two tunnels, one for each line of railway. In this manner the size would be kept within reasonable bounds and the difficulties of ventilation would be lessened. It is estimated the entire project would cost $29,000,000 and that it would yield a profit of 5 per cent. on the investment. There will be no trouble about finding the money. One half will be supplied here and the other half by French financiers. But the chances are that the French would let the Belgians and the Italians take a share of their holdings. Once the government gave its consent to the project, the British tunnel company and the French tunnel company would supply the needed money within a week. It will take five years to build. But the possibilities of such a tunnel are simply immense. Through trains without change could be run from London to all the great capitals of Europe, and vice versa. The time of travel between London and Paris would be cut at least one hour. British manufactured goods could be sent abroad without the present transshipment from train to boat and from boat to train and vice versa. And its military value would be immeasurable."

Relics of Roman England Found

London, June 7.—The excavation of the Roman site at East Cliff, Folkestone, has revealed the bones of a man's foot, and right through the bone is a clean hole the size of a thick nail. It is suggested that the hole was caused by crucifixion.

The cookhouse of two apartments found previously has been further investigated, and there is evidence that there were eight hearths in it. Adjoining the apartments is a vestibule, entrance to which is obtained by two clearly cut steps.

MINARD'S LINIMENT, THE ATHLETIC REMEDY.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

POSTAL OFFICIALS' POSITION.

TORONTO, Ont., June 17.
 "We regret that there appears to be no other course to take, but telegrams have been received from all parts of the country demanding urgent action and unless the authorities at Ottawa can offer some speedy solution, we will be forced into tying up the mail service in the Dominion with the consequent inconvenience and economic loss to our fellow citizens." This statement was made late this afternoon by the Press Committee of the Canadian Federation of Postal Employees composed of the President of the four branches of the Service Postal Clerks Association, the Association of Letter Carriers, Postal Porters, Transfer Agents, and the railway services. "The postal employees have shown as much patience during the prolonged negotiations as could be expected of any body of men, and feel that their only recourse now to secure justice is to go to the extreme limits of calling a country wide strike," said the spokesman for the committee. "We feel particularly grieved at the attitude of the Deputy Ministers in endeavouring to reduce the maximum of the letter carriers $120 below the already low maximum provided by the Civil Service Commission and the further attitude of the Deputies in suggesting that all salary maximums recommended by the Commission be reduced to $120. This attitude is taken in view of the fact that very recently the Deputy Ministers' salaries were increased by $2000, a greater increase than any maximum provided to postal workers," the statement continues. At yesterday's session of the Canadian Federation of the Postal Employees' meeting held here after considering the report of the Commission and the Committee of Deputies appointed by Parliament to report on the salary question, a vote of want of confidence to deal with the question was moved. The executive of the Federation of Postal Employees of all post branches is meeting to-night to receive the final result of the voting and decide on what action shall be taken in view of results.

SCHR. "MINAS PRINCESS" HARD AROUND.

HALIFAX, N.S., June 17.
 The tern schooner Minas Princess, which grounded when towing out of Advocate Harbor Sunday night with a cargo of plums for New York, was reported still hard and fast in the advice reaching here to-night. Her cargo was being taken out and hopes were entertained that the hull would be floated. The schooner touched on a bar outside the harbor and when the tide dropped listed and opened up several beams. At the next tide she filled.

S.A. ELECTION RETURNS.

CAPE TOWN, S.A., June 17.—(Via Canadian Press cable, via Reuter's).—Early returns in the general election in the South African Union to-day showed gains for the Nationalist-Labor Opposition. In Pretoria Central, Edward Booth, a member of the Smuts cabinet and chairman of committee in the last House, was defeated by 53 votes by the Nationalist candidate, Labor scored a victory in Gormston (Johannesburg) where their candidate Brown defeated by a narrow majority H. S. McAllister of the government party. The returns indicate a greatly increased vote compared with the 1921 elections. The state of the parties to-night showed Ministerialists, 32; Labor, 7; Nationalists, 3, or ten for Nationalist Opposition; Independents, 1. The result of the 1921 election was Smuts or South African Party, 65; Nationalist, 44; Labor, 11, and Independent, 10; total, 134. Bye-elections and resignations, however, had reduced the Government's majority to six, just before the present elections was called. The Assembly membership is being increased in the present elections to 135.

Bishop Feild-Cathedral Scholarships

Two Choral Scholarships are offered for competition for the boys of the Cathedral Choir who will be attending Bishop Feild College during the next twelve months.
 Candidates must be either already members of the choir or accepted for the choir by the Cathedral Organist.
 The Scholarships are of $25.00 in value, paid monthly at $2.50 the month for ten months, as long as the holder is a member of the Cathedral Choir and of Bishop Feild College.
 The Scholarships are granted for one year only, and will be vacated at the end of each school year, but the holder of a scholarship will be eligible for re-election for the next year. The object of the scholarship being two-fold: to encourage boys to offer their voices in the service of God, and to assist in their education. Candidates will first be examined by the Cathedral Organist who will then send his recommendations to the Head Master of Bishop Feild College, who will either confirm the recommendation, or should more than two candidates be presented, will subject them to a short eliminating examination. Candidates must present with their applications a testimonial of character from their Parish Priest, and state their age.
 The Scholarships may be forfeited through misconduct generally, or lack of application to work, or bad attendance at the Cathedral services or at the College. The scholarships will be known as the Bishop Feild Cathedral Scholarships, and will be tenable from September to June inclusive. Applications should be forwarded to the Rector of the Cathedral and will not be received after July 31st.
 The award of the Scholarships will be announced in the June 18-19 news-17, 19
