Mrs. Fletcher's Lecture.

Mrs. Fletcher's Lecture.

Mrs. Fletcher, wife of Rev. C. Fletcher, of Exeter, addressed a meeting of ladies in the Bible class room of St. Andrew's Church Tuesday evening. Her subject was "Notes of a tour throughout some of the Presbyterian fields of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories." Mrs. Fletcher is syidentify a keep and souverte characteristics. Presbyterian fields of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories." Mrs. Fletcher is evidently a keen and accurate observer and a thrifty collector of interesting facts. With faultless logic, she makes a Christian philosopher's use of such facts for purposes of needed reform and progress. Mrs. Fletcher has a charming fluency of utterance, finely regulated by a musical tone and almost faultless inflection. These qualities combined with a brilliant imagination give her admirable powers of description. Her account of the Indians, their individual, social and tribal habits and customs, the fixity of character attained by the old, the power of the Gospel in developing the young, the heroic struggles and trials of the missionaries laboring among them was throughout very touching and sometimes pathetic. Perhaps the best part of Mrs. Fletcher's eloquent address was her references to the condition of the large Chinese population in Victoria, B. C., and the West generally. The strong racial prejudices from which they suffer and the neglect of the Presbyterian Church, which has numerous and expensive missions in the Chinese empire, to take prudent advantage of the Mongolian immigration to our Pacific coast, were not too severely condemed. It is assuring to find ladies with the culture and ability of Mrs. Fletcher using their influence to speed and spread the power of Christian truth.
