Stiff Practice Indulged in Last Even ing and Players Showed Up Well.

The London intermediate O. H. A. team had its first practice on the ice last night, when about fifteen of the boys who are trying to make the team turned out at the Princess Rink. The lee was in splendid condition, and for nearly an hour a good stiff workout was indulged in. The players were able to get the stiffness worked out of their joints, but many have not yet got their wind. For the first time on the ice this season, however, the majority of the boys did well. Two sides were chosen to play against each other, and with Jimmy Orr, who has announced his retirement, as referee, a good game was put up, although a trifle slow at times when the players were trying to regain their wind. The veterans. Hank Wagner, Crow Carrothers, Lecky and Parkinson, were all on the ice, and seemed to have none of their last year's ability. Hally Watts and Milne were also out trying for the goal-keeping position McEvoy Thayer, Parkinson, Walden, Watts and Another practice will be held lar hockey.
