THE GREAT EASTERN.

Details of a Recent Voyage from Milford Haven to Liverpool.

From the London Times, May 8.

Yesterday afternoon the steamship Great Eastern entered the Mersey on her round from Milford Haven and anchored in the Sloyne, almost on the spot where she lay 18 years ago. The arrival of the big ship had been awaited with considerable interest, and many thousands of persons crowded the strands and piers on the Lancashire and Cheshire sides of the river when the Great Eastern steamed up. For 12 years the big ship has lain useless at Milford, where she was taken in June, 1874. After this long period of idleness the Great Eastern weighed anchor at 6 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, when she began her voyage to the Mersey. Wind and tide were against her, and she made little progress. Besides, huge masses of seaweed, mussels and limpets clung to her hull, while her engines would not admit of rapid progress. About an hour after she had left her moorings she came to a dead stop. Some alarm was occasioned by a report that the engine pipes had burst, and this turned out to be true. The vessel was anchored off the Great Castle Head in the haven and Mr. Beckwith, Mr. Peter Jackson, Chief Engineer of the vessel, and their assistants set to work to make good the injury. This delay disappointed those who expected a moderately speedy voyage to Liverpool. The Great Eastern steamed out of Milford Haven at 5 o'clock on Friday morning, and passed St. Anne's Head soon after. At the beginning of the trip the engines had to be carefully worked to avoid any danger of another accident, and the progress of the ship was consequently very slow. When passing Kinsdey a very alarming incident occurred, and might have resulted in very serious consequences, having regard to the position which the great ship occupied. While Mr. Edwards, the Liverpool pilot, Mr. Beckwith, and another gentleman were sitting comparing notes as to the career of the ship, two men rushed into the grand saloon and shouted: "The engine room is on fire." Mr. Beckwith and the pilot at once proceeded on deck. Meanwhile Capt. Comyn had taken precautions, and the crew quickly got out the hose and other fire extinguishing apparatus. Mr. Beckwith, knowing every corner of the engine room, found that some of the lagging near the smoke box doors of the boilers had caught fire, which he got extinguished without difficulty, and what might have been an undoubted danger was thus averted. The vessel proceeded on her voyage. During the run the ship averaged five and a half knots an hour (her best speed being seven and a half knots), and she behaved well in all things considered. From Milford to Point Lynas only some deeply laden colliers were passed, and no craft of any magnitude except a national steamship was met with until the bar lightship was reached about 12.30 on Saturday afternoon. While at anchor off the Mersey the wind began to rise, and yesterday morning at tide time, when there was water enough to cross, it was blowing a gale, but the anchor was weighed, and the vessel, in tow of two powerful tugs, was headed for the Mersey. All along the shore from Crosby crowds of people might be seen assembled looking for the arrival of the big ship. Tugs crowded with persons approached and cheered. The Cheshire shore and the New Brighton Pier were crowded, and all the way up the river on either side the shore river walls and landing stages were black with spectators.

Sam Jones, Sam Small, and a Singer.

From the Baltimore Sun, May 24.

Owing to indisposition Sam Jones preached but once yesterday, the noon and evening services being led by Sam Small. The singing of Mr. Excell has proved a great addition to the meetings. Some of the hymns sung are adapted to plantation melodies—"Sweet Rest at Home" being sung to the tune of the "Suwanee River," and "I've Found a Friend in Jesus" to the tune "The Little Old Log Cabin in the Lane." Both at noon and night Mr. Excell sung as a solo "Keep in the Middle of the Road," and at the night service the large male audience burst into applause. Dr. P. G. Williams announced yesterday that the contributions at the services have averaged less than a quarter of a cent a person of those attending. Before his sermon last night Mr. Small said: "There have been some remarks made about the sale of photographs of us. I should have thought that the common sense of any reasonable man would have shown him the absurdity of connecting us with them. But for the benefit of those thus affected I will say that we have nothing more to do with the peddling than we have with the Panama Canal. Neither of us are so enamored of our beauty that we should impose it upon others. The photographs were obtained without our consent and duplicated by a New York firm. I hope you won't charge us with any complicity in any picayune scheme like that is."

Important.

—When you visit or leave New York City save baggage, expressage and $2 carriage hire and stop at the Grand Union Hotel, opposite the Grand Central Depot.

$13 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevators. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city. ed

Marriages in the White House.

Washington Letter to the Cleveland Leader.

The first marriage in the White House took place in 1811, when Miss Todd, a relative of President Madison's wife married John J. Jackson, a Virginia Congressman. The next was that of Monroe's daughter, Martha, to Mr. Gouverneur of New York, about nine years later, and in 1826 the son of President Adams married his cousin, Miss Johnson, there. During the Administration of Jackson one of the diplomats, a man named Pageot, who afterward represented the French government in this country, was married in the White House to the daughter of Andrew Jackson's close friend, Major Lewis of Nashville, and Jackson's niece was married during this Administration to a Mr. Polk of Tennessee. During Tyler's Administration his daughter was married to a Virginian named Waller, and during Grant's term his daughter Nellie was united with Sartoris, an English gentleman. Another marriage during the days of Grant's Presidency was that of Gen. Russell Hastings and Miss Emily Platt.

Easily Cured.

—Mrs. Barkinshaw, 26 Pembroke street, Toronto, cured of a bad lameness of the knee joint, upon which the surgeons were about to operate. Other treatment had been tried in vain. Hagyard's Yellow Oil was the remedy used. 246

—Free and easy expectoration immediately relieves and clears the throat and lungs from viscid phlegm, and a medicine that promotes this is the best medicine to use for coughs, colds, inflammation of the lungs and all affections of the throat and chest. This is precisely what Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup is a specific for, and wherever used it has given unbounded satisfaction. Children like it because it is pleasant, adults like it because it relieves and cures the disease.

Hoarseness and Bronchitis.

—Among the many remedies used for the cure of coughs and colds, none more speedily gains the confidence of the sufferer than "Hallamore's Expectorant." For hoarseness and bronchitis its rapid effect is surprising. In private sale during 25 years it has gained for itself an enviable reputation and produced wonderful results. In 25 cent bottles at all drug stores. edx

WOMAN'S WAY.

A Duet for Two Sweet Female Voices—Tender Recollections.

From Chicago Rambler.

"Why, you dear thing! How do you do? And how do you do? And where have you been all this time? And I'm so glad to see you! So glad! And your looking just lovely!—just perfectly lovely! And what a sweet bonnet! Paris? I thought so! And I'm so delighted to see you! And your looking so well! And what lovely weather we are having? And Oh! how's baby?—dear, sweet little thing! He's the living image of you and Charlie!"

"Oh! thanks; dear baby's doing splendidly; got another lower front tooth through and he's going to have a big pimple right on the end of his dear little nose!"

"Oh! perfectly dreadful! And how's Charlie! Heard he was run away with and awfully hurt, and I've been meaning to call and ask after him, for I knew you must be awfully worried, but I've been so busy, you know!"

"Oh, thank you, dear, that's ever so kind of you, but it wasn't anything serious; he was only trying his new tandem pair, and he found out afterward that the shaft horse had belonged to a policeman and learned to stop at every rumshop he came to, and the leader was a circus horse that had been taught to read, and so bolted for every sign of 'Hay for sale,' or 'Meals at all hours' that he saw, and so poor Charlie was a bit shaken up, and decided to sell the beasts for ladies' saddle horses and so he—and oh! have you seen those new black stockings with silver clocks that they've got? You must get some! they're just perfectly lovely!—long ones, you know!"

"Yes, I just bought some; they are too sweet for anything, aren't they? Are you going to the Robinsons' to-night? I hear it's going to be charming!"

"No, I don't think we shall be able to. Are you going?"

"Well, er—no, I don't think we shall be able to get off. It's so wearing, this going out every night, isn't it?"

"So hard, isn't it? Well, I must be going, dear; I'm already an hour late for my appointment at the dentist's! But I'm so glad to have met you, dear! And you will come and see me very—oh, there's Fanny Jones! I must run over and congratulate her on her engagement being broken! Goodby, dear!"

"Goodby! (sotto voce). Gracious! how her dress does hang behind."

—The proper channel for the escape from the system of impurities which would if they remained, poison the blood, is through the bowels. When this outlet is obstructed it may be disencumbered with Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, a remedy which regulates the system, invigorates digestion, and is pure and safe as well as effective. It cures all diseases arising from impure blood.

Hens will have to more than double the size of their eggs if they want their fruit to still be used to compare the size of hailstones with in the West. During a recent storm in that prolific part of the country, "hail-stones as large a pumpkins" fell.

It Acts Like a Charm.

—Ex-Ald. George Evans, 349 Queen street west, testifies to the efficacy of "Hallamore's Expectorant" as follows: "It is undoubtedly far superior to all other advertised remedies for coughs and colds, especially in the case of children, with whom it acts like a charm." 6dx

When we consider the bellegerent attitude of Greece against the defenceless European powers, we can't help thinking what an awful thing it would be if Rhode Island should rise up in rebellion some day and wipe out the United States.

—It may be only a trifling cold, but neglect it and it will fasten its fangs in your lungs, and you will soon be carried to an untimely grave. In this country we have sudden changes and must expect to have coughs and colds. We cannot avoid them, but we can effect a cure by using Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, the medicine that has never been known to fail in curing coughs, colds, bronchitis and all affections of the throat, lungs and chest.

Five Years of Torture.

—Mrs. U. Aston of Bracebridge writes to say that Burdock Blood Bitters cured her of headaches from which she had suffered for five years; all other means having failed. 246

Now the young man he doth tarry
On the stoop in the twilight faint,
In his heart his love he'll carry,
On his trousers fresh white paint.

—Mr. W. R. Lazier, bailiff, etc., Belleville, writes: "I find Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil the best medicine I have ever used in my stable. I have used it for bruises, scratches, wind puffs and cuts, and in every case it gave the best satisfaction. We use it as a household remedy for colds, burns, etc., and it is a perfect panacea. It will remove warts by paring them down and applying it occasionally."

"Economy is wealth." If the person who invented the proverb will call at this office any afternoon we will present him a good supply of economy for half its face value in wealth. We have more economy than we really need.

—The superiority of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is shown by its good effects on the children. Purchase a bottle and give it a trial.

We never doubt a man's courage after seeing him smoke a cheap cigar.

—Corns cause intolerable pain. Holloway's Corn Cure removes the trouble. Try it and see what an amount of pain is saved.

Public Notice.

—All testimonials in favor of Hallamore's Expectorant are from well known residents of Toronto. Mr. S. J. Willcock, 199 Spadina avenue, says: "I have used Hallamore's Expectorant for coughs and colds for thirteen years, and would not be without it. It never fails to cure me." edx
