Deathly Cramps, Stomach was Bloating

A Bad Case That Proves Cramps and Stomach Disorders are Cured Fast by Nerviline.

"The distress I suffered from cramps last summer was so severe I thought it meant death," writes P. R. Emerson, of Guys Hill, P. O. "I was doubled up with pain and in such bad shape I couldn't walk a hundred feet. I remembered having Nerviline on hand and took half a teaspoonful in sweetened water. In five minutes I was well and my stomach derangements disappeared entirely."

NERVILINE AN INSTANT RELIEF

For cramps, flatulence, diarrhoea and disorders of the stomach and bowels, Nerviline knows no equal—one million bottles used every year—fifty years on the market that's proof enough of its merit. Large bottles, 50c., trial size, 25c. All dealers or The Catarrhzone Company, Kingston, Ont.

A Domestic Serial.
Mrs. Littletown—This magazine looks rather the worse for wear.

Mrs. Neartown—Yes, it's the one I sometimes lend to the servant on Sundays.
Mrs. Littletown—Doesn't she get tired of always reading the same one?
Mrs. Neartown—Oh, no; You see, it's the same book, but it's always a different servant—Suburban Life.

Another Last Straw.
"Dog gone it!" mutters the meek man.

"How now?" we exclaim, horrified.
"What means this unseemly near profanity?"
"Why, dad blast it!" he sputters, "my wife has had all of my night-shirts hobbled!"—Life.

Sure of Attentive Readers.
"There's a man who gets the closest attention for everything he writes."
"I thought he had given up literature."
"He has. He has taken a position in a bank and sends you the notices when your notes are due."—Washington Star.

Getting His Discharge.
Identified.
Visitor (in the magazine sanctum)—Who is that mournful looking individual smoking the horrid clay pipe?
The Great Editor—Oh, that's Aunt Mary! He edits the children's page—Pearson's Weekly.

Epitaph.
Here lies John Jones, who lived by rule, Who led the systematic school. He had a set, unchanging way For going through each night and day. Of all his rules he made a list, So that no detail should be missed, And every morn' he'd rise and look At that day's rules within his book. Alas, we carve this, tearful eyed: He lost his rule book once—and died!—Life.

Duels and Debts.
A duel in Berlin had to be postponed the other day because the creditors of one of the principals objected on the ground that they had a real and very large financial interest in his continuing existence on this earth. They could not prohibit the meeting altogether, but when it did take place it had no serious consequences. Not a drop of blood was spilled. The humorous aspect of this intervention by sober, prosaic business men in "an affair of honor" has proved another blow to the dwindling institution of the code.

"Canada."

A verse in praise of Canada our own dear native land,
And the wonderful attractions to be found on every hand,
It has the finest fields of wheat as well as fruit and flowers,
There is not in the universe a fairer land than ours.

Oh tell our young Canadian this is the land of bliss,
That millions now are anxious to find a land like this,
That the stately homes of England to the English heart so dear,
They lack the air and sunshine that Canadian homes have here.
No wonder that Canadians do love their native land,
Historians can not tell you of another one as grand,
We have all the late inventions and everything to please,
And we have maple syrup when we tap the maple trees.

We love the little emblem it wears up on our crest,
And the Maple Leaf Forever is the one we love the best,
Here the Shamrock and the Heather and the Rose trees fairest flowers,
Can all grow up together in this Canada of ours.
William W. Revington.

ANIMATED GIMLETS.

Wonderful Boring Insects That Destroy Telegraph Poles.

It has long been known that construction timbers in bridges and like structures, railroad ties, mine props and fenceposts are sometimes seriously injured by wood boring larvae, ants, carpenter bees and powder post beetles, their efficiency being reduced from 10 to 100 per cent, but until now the problem of insect damage to standing poles and posts has never been made the subject of a special investigation. How serious the problem is may be judged from the fact that in a single telegraph line in West Virginia (forty miles long, with thirty-six chestnut poles to the mile) built twelve years ago about 600 poles have been rotted off at the ground, inspection showing that 95 per cent of the damage was due to our animate little gimlet.

It is very small, but amazingly potent for evil and incredibly swift. It is an animated gimlet. Until lately it has not been regarded as an insect of any economic importance and has been flippantly described in entomological literature as living only under the bark, chiefly of the pine, or in the decomposing wood of various species of deciduous and coniferous trees. We know more about it now; we know that the grub or larva of this industrious little auger, mining into the wood near the line of contact with the ground, has been eating away countless thousands of poles, necessitating their resetting or even replacement—Philadelphia Press.

THE METRICAL CARAT.

New System of Weighing Precious Stones in Europe.
An important change was made in the system of weighing precious stones by the agreement of European jewelers and lapidists which is now in effect.

France, Switzerland, Norway, Roumania, Bulgaria and Spain entered into the agreement to establish a metrical carat which would fit into the metrical system, now so generally used abroad. The old carat of 3.167 grains troy weighed 205.3 milligrams, while the new carat will weigh an even 200 milligrams, or 3.086 grains troy, according to the old system.

The change is being considered in every country where precious stones are articles of commerce, and various European states, in addition to those mentioned above, which have already acknowledged the reform, are about to adopt the metrical carat.

Of course if any of the larger and wealthier nations—England, for instance—were to object to any alteration the confusion would tend to hamper trade, but the change is more than welcome on the continent, where the metrical system has been in use for so many years that the old arbitrary weights are almost forgotten and all measurements have been simplified into a decimal system.—Chicago Tribune.

New York's Big Park.

"We expect to have 142 acres of land added to Central park before very long, or just as soon as the Jerome park reservoir is completed, and then it will be up to the landscape architect to make this the finest park in the country," said an officer of the park department. He explained that the 142 acres are used by the two reservoirs that were constructed in the park forty years ago. They will be no longer needed when the Jerome park reservoir, which was begun ten years ago, is finished. Judging from adjoining property, Central park is valued at $220,000 an acre. The reservoirs are occupying land worth $38,837,390. The ground there is 115 feet above the sea level and takes in one-sixth of the entire park.—New York Sun.

Bold Bachelors.

Wedlock seems to be in a bad way in the mountains of the Dauphine. The confirmed bachelors of the country have decided to meet every month and toast celibacy. Invitations are sent out with the information, "Good feeding, good drinking, much laughter, much dancing." An added insult to matrimony is that the invitations have been sent to all spinsters who have "put on St. Katherine's cap"—that is to say, who are over twenty-five and are therefore presumed to be on the high-road to old maidenhood. The confirmed bachelors announce their intention of eating, drinking, laughing and dancing with the old maids every month, but their very hardihood may be their undoing.—London Telegraph.

Journalists in Italy.

In Italy, says the London Chronicle, the journalist, with barely one or two exceptions, works for a salary which the pampered ones of England would laugh at. But he has his compensations. He—and not only himself, but his wife and family, too—travels free on all the railways, whether the journey is on business or not. If he wishes to go to the theater and to take his friends he has only to ask and the requisite box or stalls are at his disposal, and that however humble his professional rank may be.

Comforts of Home.

By a new process of photographic calico printing in Berlin it will be possible to have family portraits, landscapes and domestic scenes reproduced on sofa cushions, curtains and tablecloths at a reasonable price. The possibilities of this are depressing, but the innovation does not promise anything so alarming as the wax fruit, plush albums and cartoon crayon portraits of the postbellum period.—Philadelphia Ledger.

There is a characteristic story of a school mistress chiding a little lassie for her backwardness in geography. "Mary," she said, "I shall have to write your mother and tell her how poor you are in geography." Mary was ready with her answer: "My mother never learned jography and she's married. My sister Sally never learned jography and she's married. You learned jography and you ain't."
