

countries, and I sincerely trust that the same measure of success which has attended the efforts of the American government in this direction, may before long lead to the inauguration of closer business connections with Canada, which I believe will undoubtedly result to the unending benefit of both peoples.

D. J. KENNELLY.

