

[mileage is reckoned, as well as the number of miles, and that in no case shall more than the actual number of miles travelled be allowed, nor a greater number of miles than the distance from the Court House to the place of service.]”

With respect to the authority for constables' charges it is for the most part embraced in the “Judges' Tariff.” The following is an extract from the order of the Court of Queen's Bench, on the 15th November, 1845, establishing a tariff:—

“It is ordered, under the authority of the Statute passed in the eighth year of her present Majesty's reign, intituled, “An Act to regulate the Fees of certain District Officers, in that part of this Province called Upper Canada,” that the fees in the table annexed to this rule shall be taken and received by Sheriffs, Coroners, Clerks of the Peace, Constables, and Criers, respectively, in the several districts of this Province, for services rendered by them, respectively, in the administration of justice, and for other district purposes, where such services were not remunerated by any law in force at the time of passing the said act.

“But it is to be understood—

“That, besides the fees set down in this table, the several officers will be entitled, as heretofore, to receive fees for other services rendered by them, respectively, which are not mentioned in this table, wherever specific fees for such services are fixed by any statute; the Judges having no authority, under the act referred to in this rule, to make any regulation in such cases.”

That portion of the Table of Fees which relates to constables is subjoined:
