Now that the soldiers are here, the townspeople, who have spent big sums on new enterprises preparatory for a big camp, are feeling easier. It is believed 12,000 troops at least will be under canvas here.

Carloads of Material.

Special freight trains are arriving overy afternoon, bringing carload after carload of lumber for use in connection with the camp, white all kinds of materials for building roads and putting up temporary structures, lumber for tent floors, water, sewer pipes, etc., all destined for camp use, have been coming in daily.

The cost of such supplies must be enormous, and one finds it hard to believe that the militia authorities would senction such an outlay were there any intention of abandoning Niagara Camp grounds this year at least. Gen. Logie will be here tomorrow or Friday.

BANTAMS OPEN OFFICE.

BRANTFORD, May 17.—The 216th (Bantam) Battalion has opened up a recruiting office in this city, and Capt. Blaney, Hamilton, spent a couple of days in the city, and while here established the depot. Lieut. P. R. McKissock, Toronto, has arrived here and will remain in charge.

Britain has two types of aeroplanes faster than any that Germany ssesses and two others just as swift as the Fokker machine, Harold J. Tennant told the imperial house of commons yesterday. It was far from true to say that Germany had the supremacy of the air and, on the contrary, Britain had a large measure of that supremacy. In most aerial combat. British airmen are the victors. Arrangements to give warning of zeppelin raids on England are now complete and a great improvement has been made in regard to lights and guns. The government has decided to establish an aerial board to advise the war office and the admiralty in regard to air services and designs of machines. So ends the Fokker boom, the Pemberton-Billing scares and other excitement. The Tewkesbury electors also crumpled up the opposition to the government by electing to the commons W. F. Hicks-Beach, Unionist and coalition candidate, by a majority of five to one over William Boosey, Independent.

CHARGE SCHEME INSPIRED BY THE METROPOLITAN

standing Topic in North

Toronto.

The outstanding topic on upper Yonge street, thru Deer Park and North Toronto, is the railway situation, and the chances of the new transportation scheme receiving the endorsation of the big combined meeting called for tomorrow night in the Deer Park School. The scheme is said by the citizens north of Bloor street, most vitally interested, to possess many good points, while others characterize it as having been inspired and drawn up by the Metropolitan Railway. The committee having the plan in hand yesterday amended it by incorporating a clause switched from the Metropolitan tracks at the junction point between the radial and Canadian Northern at Richmond Hill, and brought into the city by that route. The removal of the freight service would, it is said, remove the greatest objection of the Moore Park people to the proposed innovation.

WAITING FOR GRANT HOLDS UP COMMISSION

The York County Highway Commission is held up by delay on the part of the Ontario Government in withholding the annual grant for road improvement. The York County Council and the city, the other parties to the agreement, long ago signified their intention to go ahead and prosecute the work along the same lines as in other years, but so far the grant from the government has not been announced.

The Highway Commission has planned a vigorous campaign for this year. The North York system will be greatly ex-ONTARIO COUNTY UNIT
