Match Game Unfinished. Saturday's match game between the St. Andrew's and Thistle curling clubs was not finished owing to the ice going bad.

How Moncton Wins the Cup. The Evening Times says the contest between Bathurst and Moncton for the McLellan Cup was probably the keenest and most exciting since the Bathurst curlers won it. The play was close all through, and it was not until the last shot that the fate of the cup was decided.

McKean Wins. The Moncton skip with a skillful shot raised his number three on to Bathurst's number two stone, giving him a count of three, which won the match by one point.

McKean Wins. This is the first time Moncton curlers have won the McLellan Cup, although they have played many times for it. Last winter they played Bathurst for the cup, but lost by nine shots.

McKean Wins. The Bathurst curling club has retained possession of the McLellan Cup longer than any other club since the trophy was put into play nine or ten years ago. The Thistles, it may be said, were never beaten for the cup, but let it go by default.
