MUCH ICE.

Ice conditions in the small harbors about the Bay of Funday are reported every bad, according to reports received by the Marine and Fisheries Department. Most of the harbors along the New Brunswick and Nova Scotias sides of the bay are closed by drift ice. The Canadian Government steamer Laurentian has been busy for some time now in attempts to keep entry to most of them clear but a great deal of difficulty has been experienced in the drifting in of more ice as soon as a passage is forced. The schooner Alignman D. MacLean, in tow of the tust F. W. Roebling, was held up for some days at Westport, on her way to her destination.
