In the second half 6488 pupils were enrolled, the percentage of attendance was 67 and the number of teachers 115. This gave 54 pupils to each teacher. This is a large number, but under present circumstances it might be impolitic as well as fruitless to agitate for an increase in the teaching staff. In the first term, 1890, we had 6789 pupils in not proceeding with the recount had a close relation to the chances he had of being successful in view of the fact that the recount would be before Judge Steadman. No one can blame Mr. Baird for not being willing to enter on a long and expensive proceeding before a judge in whose fairness he has no confidence. Judge Steadman may be the most just judge in Canada; we trust he is, yet it is unfortunate that many leading conservatives should have Wis., 43 deg. 30 sec, and Yankton, Dai in 42 deg. most just judge in Canada; we trust he is, yet it is unfortunate that many leading conservatives should have formed such an opinion of him as to effectually debar them from bringing any proceeding before him in which politics are involved. If injustice is done to Judge Steadman by this opinion it is his misfortune, we but record the fact.

A great many people both in St. John and Queens will be disappointed that there is to be no recount but they may find some consolation for being deprived of these interesting proceedings in a recital of the adventures of Richard O'Brien of the Globe on his way to Gagetown. Although Mr. C. W. Weldon was aware on Sunday evening that there would be no recount, he did not take the Globe into his confidence and therefore Mr. Richard O'Brien started by the Flying Yankee yesterday morning for Welsford, where he expected to get a team with which he drives to Gagetown. It was which to thought that considering the importance of the recount no less person from the Globe office than Mr. O'Brien would serve the purpose and expose the plots of the enemies of Mr. King. When Mr. O'Brien got to Welsford he found a considerably greater than the difference between zero point and boiling water.

Adifference in the Dominion's favor of 36 degrees for the coldest month. The roads were in a dreadful state, however, and his progress was very slow. Mr. O'Brien was so anxious to get to Gagetown in time that he offered lavish bribes to his driver to hasten his pace but with every effort it was late in the afternoon before he reached Gagetown. When he got there and found that there was no resount his natural blackness assumed a deeper hue and if he did not give utterance to any profane words, he probably thought them over. Mr. O'Brien's was not at all lessened when he learned that one of the gentlemen at Welsford who took the greatest interest in hunting him up a team and send.
