Good Boys

Are the bad boys very often. The boy that's good for anything is generally pugnacious. He's a healthy animal, and the healthy animal will always fight for his rights.

When a boy shuns the rough sports of his companions he is apt to be a weakling, and to be conscious of the fact.

A great many mothers have testified to the wonderful curing and strengthening power of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. All strength comes from food after it has been perfectly digested and assimilated. By curing diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, "Golden Medical Discovery" enables the perfect nourishment of the body, which is thus built up in the only way a body can be built up—by food.

There is no alcohol in "Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

"Dr. Pierce's medicine has done wonders for my two sons," writes Mrs. M. Hartwick, of Denham Springs, La. "My oldest son, who had been sick with hemorrhage from the lungs, had been in the hospital for over a year. He took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and has not had one day's sickness since he commenced taking your medicine."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper cover, sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. For cloth binding send 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

EDUCATION OF GIRLS.

Women in the Wage Earning World Are Helped by College Training.

An amazing amount of educational sense and wise, gracious counsel are crowded into an article in The Independent on college education for girls by Heloise Edwina Hersey, a graduate of Vassar and formerly a teacher in Smith college.

The writer disposes at once of the question as to whether a girl should go to college or not by declaring that "there is no doubt that it is becoming an obstacle to women who must enter the wage earning world not to have what is called a liberal education." With her there is no room for controversy upon this point. The profession of teaching is slowly being closed to all those who have not the requisite college degree, and Miss Hersey believes that other professions will follow suit. If a woman expects to occupy a position of responsibility and profit, she must prepare for it by going to college. While the highest and noblest sphere of woman is the home, it is very plain that every girl, under present conditions, must face the contingency of being called upon to earn her own living.

Among the gains of college life Miss Hersey places first "the trained mind." She demolishes the old time notion that college education means merely an accumulation of knowledge. Efficiency is the all important thing. What a graduate can do is far more important than what she knows. When a woman has been out of college five years, there is little probability that she would be able to pass the examination for the freshman year. The most important element acquired is "the general knowledge of the sweep and trend of the world's history which the classics and the literatures of our own language and of other languages may give us."

Among other advantages enumerated by the writer are the executive experience gained in the miniature life of the college, the great privilege of friendship and the noble gift of loyalty and devotion to the alma mater with which the college imbues the student.

Of course it follows that so keen a student of education does not believe in educational institutions because they interfere with the cultivation of those friendships which she extols in college life. If a girl selects a co-educational college, however, she should choose where the idea of womanliness dominates the education of women.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Fads of the Bath.

Long before the days of knowledge as to the hygienic and rejuvenating effect of the bath beautiful women discovered the secret of preserving their charms by ablutionary aids. Chickweed was believed by Isabella of Bavaria to be good for the complexion, and accordingly she had decoctions of it made, in which she bathed daily. Diana of Poitiers plied her faithful cold rain water and took her maternal tub as regularly as any water loving dame of today.

The beauties of the last century also believed in bathing, but they put all sorts of strange things into the water to improve their skins. Among the many popular additions were rose water, real breath distilled from the honey extracted from roses, melon juice and the milky extract of green barley and various preparations containing almonds and yolk of egg.

Queen Marie Antoinette was fond of bathing and liked the water made aromatic with wild thyme, laurel leaves and marjoram, with the addition of a little sea salt.

A Child's Room.

Let it be nearer the garret than the cellar.

Sunshine should stream in even if there has to be added a skylight.

Under no circumstances insult the youthful owner by asking permission to store a trunk or a piece of furniture.

While nursery wall paper is the best paper, none at all but the plaster of walls and ceiling a delicate blue, a soft green or a creamy buff, according to taste and the amount of light.

Kindergarten outfits share honors with the dolls and the rhoe chow cars.

Tools are next in order and should be supplied as the child's taste dictates.

Of course all properly constructed girls will desire a needlework outfit.

Every child should have a place where it may indulge any talent or energy from cutting paper dolls to performing on a crossbar.

A Brooklyn Woman's Success.

A Brooklyn woman who found herself obliged to earn her own living—or, rather, to supplement a very meager income—decided to start a dyeing establishment on a small scale in her own home. Like many other women, she had been successful in amateur efforts at dyeing garments for herself and friends, and she determined to test the money making power of her experience and skill in manipulating dyeing fluids. Her large acquaintance list made it a comparatively easy matter for the attention of a number of women to be called to her venture by means of a neat business card, and she scored a success from the start. Her home is in a good neighborhood and the surroundings of her small establishment are somewhat more pleasing than the ordinary place of business of this sort.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Proper Tint For Finger Nails.

The white spots on nails are bruises. The vigorous use of the nailbrush, always brushing toward the cuticle, with hot water soaped to which a little soda has been added, strengthens and hardens the nails and makes them a rosy color by bringing the blood to the finger tips. The pink nail powder may be used when the nails are thoroughly clean and the cuticle pressed away by the little ivory piece, but the powder alone must not be depended upon to give the nails the desirable rosy tint. Rub vasoline into the nails every night. This makes them satiny and prevents the obnoxious "hang-nails."

Her Inference.

"Mrs. Jackson's daughter must be a very plain girl," said Miss Cayenne.

"Have you seen her?"

"No. But I gather as much from the fact that all the women are willing to concede that she is highly intelligent and exceptionally amiable."—Washington Star.

A Pretty Compliment.

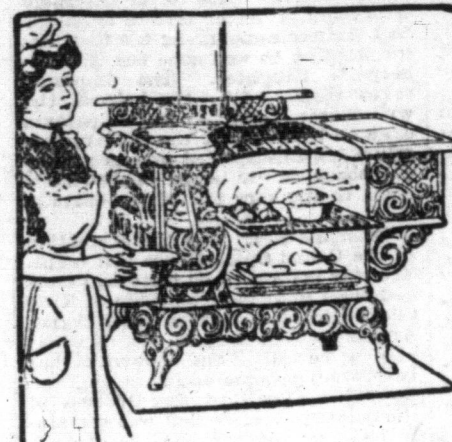

In a guestroom across the top of the little dressing table is a wide band of dark green ribbon lettered in a lighter shade, in flowing script, with these words: "The ornament of a house is the friends who frequent it."

BLOOD POISON

If you ever contracted any blood disease you are never safe unless the virus of poison has been eradicated from the system. At times you see alarming symptoms, but live in hopes no serious result will follow. Have you any of the following symptoms? Sore Throat, Ulcers on the Tongue or in the Mouth, Hair Falling Out, Itching Pains, Itchiness of the Skin, Sores or Blotches on the Body, Eyes Red and Smart, Dyspeptic Stomach, Sexual Weakness—indications of the second stage. Don't trust to luck. Don't ruin your system with the old foggy treatment—mercury and potash—which only suppresses the symptoms for a time, only to break out again, when happy in domestic life. Don't let quacks experiment on you. Our New Method Treatment is guaranteed to cure you. Our guarantees are backed by bank bonds, that the disease will never return. Thousands of patients have been already cured by our New Method Treatment for over twenty years. No experiment, no risk—not a "watchdog," but a positive cure. The worst cases solicited. We treat and cure Nervous Debility, Sexual Weakness, Gleet, Blood Poison, Stricture, Varicose Veins, Kidney and Bladder Diseases, and all diseases peculiar to men and women.
