

For the benefit of the young ladies of Montreal and others interested we have much pleasure in inserting the following from the Doncaster (Eng.) Chronicle of the 15th ult., and at the same time extending to the happy couple our warmest congratulations:

ARMSTRONG-BUSBY.—On the 7th August, at the Church of St. Michael, Headingly, by the Rev. H. Tuckwell, M. A., Vicar, assisted by the Rev. J. Cyprian Rust, M. A., Fellow of Pembroke College, Cambridge, George Frederick Armstrong, M. A., F.G.S., Jesus College, Cambridge, Professor of Civil Engineering, McGill University, Montreal, to Margaret Anne, only daughter of Thomas Brown, Longfield, Headingly.

We regret that owing to the excitement of examination times, the name of Prof. Wurtzle was omitted in the account of the Faculty of Law; he being the Associate Professor of Commercial Law, one of the most important subjects in the course.

We also omitted to mention the fact of Professors Doutre, Kerr, Lafamme, and Lafrenaye, having taken in course the degree of D.C.L.

Remembering with pleasure the kind reception our Prospectus number received from the friends of the University, who are animated by high hopes of the future. While this number is not all we could wish, we hope that the November number will make up for any deficiency in this, when we have the powerful assistance of the students in the faculties of Medicine and Law. We hope our friends will favour us with their subscriptions so soon as possible. Price only one dollar per annum.

We acknowledge with thanks the receipt of some copies of the College Spectator, from Professor Darey, M.A.B.C.L., and also some copies of the Cornell Era, from F. W. Kelley, M.A., of Cornell University.

The Story of the Earth and Man.—By J. W. Dawson, F. R. S., Principal and Vice-Chancellor of the McGill University, Montreal. (Hodder and Stoughton).—Geology as a science made always prove attractive; its study serves the highest ends, and the facts, suggestions, and conclusions it evolves enlarge and discipline the mind. The several chapters of this treatise were originally prepared for, and appeared in, the Lecture Hour; and now that they are gathered together, and reproduced, with their illustrative diagrams, they make an exceedingly useful volume—a volume containing an epitome of all the theories from time to time advanced, and the modern arguments peculiar to this many-sided and important subject. The author's method is admirable for its simple straightforwardness; for, while he avoids such technicalities as are likely to confuse the unscientific reader, he leaves nothing untouched which is necessary to a fair—not to say complete—comprehension of the whole science. With commendable reticence, Dr. Dawson has left undiscussed the relation of scientific geology to the Mosaic account of the creation of the world, but on this branch of the subject he has previously written in his "Archæa," and, therefore, the less need to go over the ground a second time. All, however, will agree with him, that geology, to be really useful, must "be emancipated from the control of bald metaphysical speculation, and delivered from that materialistic infidelity which, by robbing Nature of her spiritual element, makes science dry, barren, and repulsive, diminishes its educational value, and even renders it less efficient for purposes of practical research."
