Smiles.

A hint for lovers.—It is a rule in friendship, when distrust enters in at the foregate, love goes out at the postern.—James Howell.

Wife: "The paper says that nitrates are higher."
Hub: "What do we care? We never telegraph anywhere."

A lawyer died in an American provincial town, and fellow-lawyers wrote over his grave:

"Here lies a lawyer and an honest man."
Not long after, the governor of the province visited the town, and among other places inspected the cemetery. When he came to the lawyer's grave he stopped, read the inscription and turning to the head inspector, said:

"Look here, my friend. We wink at a good many things in this province, but I do object to your burying two men in one grave."

Uncle Joe Cannon, according to the Ladies' Home Journal, is a great lover of green corn. One day he took one of his Illinois farmer constituents to dinner with him in Washington. Cannon made his dinner on green corn, eating seven ears. The farmer asked him how much board cost at the Willard. Cannon replied: "Six dollars a day."
"Well, Joe," said the constituent, "don't you think it would be cheaper for you to board at a livery stable?"

Misplaced Sympathy.—A Jersey man of a benevolent turn of mind encountered a small boy in his neighborhood, who gave evidence of having emerged but lately from a severe battle.

"I am sorry," said the man, "to see that you have a black eye, Sammy."

Whereupon Sammy retorted: "You go home and be sorry for your own little boy—he's got two!"

In No Hurry to Fly.—"John, you ought to get in the aviation service," a York man told a negro last week. "You are a good mechanic and would come in handy in an aeroplane. How would you like to fly among the clouds a mile high and drop a few bombs down on the Germans?"

"I ain't in no special hurry to fly, Cap," the negro answered. "When wese up 'bout a mile high, s'pose de engine stopped and de white man told me to git out an' crank?"

Thesquire's pretty daughter (examining the village school): "Now, children, can you tell me what a miracle is?" The children looked at one another but remained silent. "Can no one answer this question?" the new curate asked, who was standing behind the squire's daughter. A little girl was suddenly struck with a brilliant idea. She held up her hand excitedly. "Well, Nellie?" the squire's daughter asked, smiling approval. "Please, miss", the small child replied, breathlessly, "mother says 'twill be a miracle if you don't marry the new curate."

One of the latest stories in regard to the "gentleman ranker" in the British army is reported by the Tatler. An officer who superintended the receipt of a large and varied stock of stores felt the need of a clerk, and told the sergeant major to hunt up one from among the men. The sergeant major could not find a man who "pleaded guilty" to being a clerk, but he eventually singled out a sober-looking private and took him before the officer.

"Are you a clerk?" demanded the captain.

"No sir," replied the man. "Do you know anything about figures?" asked the captain sourly.

"I can do a bit," replied the man modestly.

"A bit!" snarled the officer. "Is that the best man you can find?" said he to the sergeant major.

"Yes, sir," said that worthy.

"Well," growled the captain, "I suppose I'll have to put up with him!"

Turning to the private he snapped, "What were you in civilian life?"

"Professor of mathematics at — College, sir!" was the reply.
