"THIS IS THE ROOFING THAT NEEDS NO PAINTING"

Other layer of strong felt. That makes two roofs in one.

If the storm were away the mineral surface and dig through the pitch and destroyed the felt, they would still be only half way through. And if the weather then removed the next sheet of pitch, you would still have left a final layer of felt—nothing more or less than an ordinary smooth surfaced roofing which could keep off the rain very nicely if painted every year or two.

But as a matter of fact, the weather never gets past that mineral surface, which is piped in its matrix of pitch. The mineral surface is there to stay. No painting—no other—no further expense after the roof is once laid.

We should be glad to send you a few samples of Amalite, and you can see for yourself how much better it is than the smooth surfaced kinds.
