SIX NATIONS CHIEFS

A very interesting old photograph was received this morning by the City Clerk. It was of the old Six Nations' Chiefs and was taken in 1871 by Photographer J. N. Eddy, of Brantford. It shows the chiefs explaining the wampam records of the tribes, and gives an excellent idea of the old and the new.

Corp. Cobden Writes Home

Corporal John L. Cobden has written home to his wife in a short letter from the firing line, and he tells of interesting happenings at the front, although there is a stiff censorship existing.

He went to the relief of Antwerp with a regiment of Britishers, who were afterwards withdrawn from that task and given orders to entrench some considerable distance away, and it was while he was lying entrenched on the battlefield that he wrote to Mrs. Cobden on the 28th of October.

The Germans, he states, were only 40 yards away, lying in their trenches. Twice they had sallied out, only to be mowed down each time with a raking volley of musketry, and twice they had been repulsed with heavy loss.

He states that the Britishers, he states, kept up their steady fire, and the Germans seemed to be innumerable and were being continually reinforced. He noted that on many occasions they raced about absolutely without order, and he concluded that they were without restraint.

The feature of the German campaign that he has noticed is the fire fiends that they appear to be. Everything they come across they fire, and thus it is that thousands of Belgians die homeless.

He slept in a barn one night where dozens of young children and old people were taking shelter. They were homeless. Corporal Cobden speaks cheerily of the situation in which he was at the time of writing. He was well under cover and shells were bursting every few minutes, while the Germans kept up a continuous rifle fire.

He hopes soon to be back at home in Brantford city, and he is sure that the Germans cannot last long, going on as they are at present.

PATRIOTIC FUND TO PAY $25 PER MONTH TO EACH SOLDIER'S WIFE

A meeting of the directors of the Brantford Patriotic and War Relief Association was held at the Free Library on Saturday afternoon last.

Lloyd Harris occupied the chair and there were also present: Mayor Spence and Messrs F. Cockshutt, E. L. Gockshutt, T. E. Ryerson, W. N. Andrews, A. K. Bunnell, J. H. Ham, H. E. F. H. Prestor, Reginald Scarfe, E. L. Gould, and the secretary, Mr. Harvey T. Watt.

The principal business before the meeting was the question of joining the Patriotic Association.

Mr. Bunnell made a report for the deputation appointed to visit Toronto and wait on Mr. Ames, M.P., the honorary secretary-treasurer of the national organization.

Mr. Bunnell explained to Mr. Ames, Brantford's exceptional position in the matter of unemployment, which had to be provided for, and also the fact that the contributions offered by the local association for the dual purpose.

Mr. Ames had replied, stating that the national organization fully realized that Brantford was in a peculiar position, and in asking this city to join with it on, say a 50 per cent basis, was not concerned as to whether their joining would be a help or a burden in a financial situation.

Its chief concern was to make the scheme truly national and to see that the dependents of soldiers, not the fund,

Thinks Peace Will be Signed Before Easter

PARIS, Nov. 9.—The work of destruction in Arras continues. The cathedral has been badly damaged and many civilians have been killed in their houses.

Two French aviators after an aerial battle brought down two Taubes while their comrades watched, during the recent days of the war. The shells fell at the rate of 82 per minute.

The breaking of the morale of the German troops is evidenced by a new song they now are reported to be singing instead of "Deutschland Ueber Alles."

The verses of the new song are to the effect, "Glory, Glory, we are going back-home to our own firesides, where there is no more war."

An eminent economist here says it is certain that peace will be signed in Berlin by Easter.

LORD MAYOR IS INSTALLED IN OLD LONDON

Imperial and Military Features Were Maintained for Historic Event.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—10.45 a.m.—Shorn of its picturesque pageantry, but with its imperial and military features unprecedented in a century, the Lord Mayor's parade made its way through the streets to-day in the first part of the ceremonial inaugurating Sir Charles Johnston as Lord Mayor of London in succession to Sir Thomas V. Bowater.

No English institution is more traditional than Lord Mayor's day, but the decorated state coaches of the Lord Mayor and other civic dignitaries, the parade to-day showed little color. The men were clad soberly in khaki, and there was none of the brilliant display which usually distinguishes the procession.

Enormous crowds gathered early to obtain places from which to see the men who are now fighting England's battles on the continent.

One of the most popular organizations in the parade consisted of several battalions of the Canadian troops now waiting in England their opportunity to go to the front.

Major-General Hughes, Minister of Militia, arrived here from New York to-day. The General will make a tour of the military depots to receive reports of the recruiting for the second contingent.

Rev. A. J. Morley, Librarian and Secretary of Assumption College, Sandwich, died suddenly following an operation.

Miss Leone Hartley has returned to Macdonald Hall, Guelph, after spending the week-end at her home, 78 Brant avenue.

S. C. Norworthy of Mexico City, is at present a guest at the Kerby House. Mrs. Foster left the city this morning for a trip to Los Angeles.

Many friends will be sorry to learn of the death of Florence Tebb, in Wellesley Hospital, Toronto. She was the daughter of Mrs. (Dr.) Baugh Hamilton, and a frequent visitor here.

Elmer Wright of Terrace Hill, is progressing well towards recovery from his recent attack of typhoid fever. His many friends will be pleased to learn of his convalescence.

The Germans will hand over the Tsing-Tau ports to the allies to-morrow.

Fate of Germany May Quick Sealed by Russians. Violent Battle in Progress the North.

PARIS, Nov. 11.—7 becoming more and more to French observers that is now making a great Belgium to carry out a mission to penetrate the line of the allies with attack and reach either or Calais on the English coast.

This attack seems to place south of Dixmude described in an official as very violent fighting north, continues this days apparently has the Germans are pushing back.

Nevertheless, Paris is satisfied with the situation and the optimist past two weeks' action abated.

The German position is being given consideration study. French military regard the German position two weeks' operation in the same operation as able one for the reason permits the use of what "internal lines." This described in an official as very violent fighting north, continues this days apparently has the Germans are pushing back.
