The apple trade of our province is as good, if not better, than it has been for some years past, the demand in the American market still remaining keen, with prices satisfactory. On Tuesday, loth inst., the steamer City of Monitecilo carried across the Bay, en route by State of Maine to Boston, a cargo consisting of 718 berrels, besides a quantity of potatoes and canned goods; while the Yarmouth line is also receiving a large patronage in the carrying of apples and other produce.

A goed tewn to settle in is that in which you see the iarmers patronize the home merchants, the merchants advertise in the local papers, the laborers, spend the money they earn with their own tradesmen, and all are animated by a spirit that they will not purchase articles abroad if they can be purchased at home. The spirit of reciprocity between business men and laborers, farmers and manufacturers, results every time in making a town a satisfactory one in which to do business.
